Council: Open UR Records; No Move on Resignation Bid

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS

One of three resolutions aimed generally at more local control of urban renewal bevond powers of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency was adopted by the Common Council Wednesday night.

It asks that the KURA open for public view all "books, papers and records" except those dealing with property appraisals.

'Well Advanced'

Resolutions not acted upon ask for resignation of Eric Hemphill, KURA executive director, and demand that no funds contributed locally be used toward paying Hemphill's salary. The resolution dealing with records was unanimously adopted.

Before the council met last night three officials from the New York office of the Department of Housing and Urban Renewal toured downtown's Broadway East project area Wednesday and were shown that the KURA was "well advanced" in revising procedure in the direction of 10 points outlined in a May 3 letter from DHUD, which also ordered Hemphill's salary suspended. That order is still in effect.

The 10 points dealt mainly with demolition and relocation procedure which the DHUD had asked to be corrected.

Last night's council session was one recessed from the regular June 6 meeting and was called specifically to deal with urban renewal.

Hemphill, asked today how he felt about the council's action, said it had been the opinion of the KURA that procedure policy in dealing with urban renewal records and reports rests largely with the DHUD. A June 14 letter to the latter from the KURA asked for opinion in this direction, but no reply had been received, as of this date, he said.

No Matthews Comment

S. James Matthews, counsel to the KURA, today said he has no comment dealing with Wednesday night's council meeting pending a reply from the June 14 letter of the KURA which seeks instructions on policy in revealing the local agency's records.

No specific reasons for lack of Council action on the two other resolutions, was revealed last night, and Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig today said he knew of no special reason among the aldermen. It is felt, however, among those closest to urban renewal from its start here, that the aldermen want to wait out results of recent meetings of local, state and federal urban renewal officials.

Aldermen, who have been most critical of urban renewal, particularly that downtown, remained the same last night, as did the few who consider themselves most cooperative with the the KURA.

2-Way Street: Gallo

Alderman T. Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, said local urban renewal is "a two-way street," indicating the need for all-out cooperation, and Raymond Armater (R) 11th Ward, also indicating he favored full cooperation, said he was satisfied by the fact that no action had been taken on the other resolutions.

Alderman Emilio A. Primo Jr., (D) Fourth Ward, however, repeated a former recent opinion that Kingston's urban renewal program 'stinks." He felt that later action can be taken on the resolutions not introduced last night.

John J. Naccarato (R) Third Ward, a former chairman of the council's urban renewal committee, said the books and records of the KURA had always been open to him.

Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward said he is more concerned with urban renewal than the other councilmen because the Broadway East project is in his ward where he resides and makes his living in his Downtown store.

He is all for urban renewal, he emphasized, but he is also for seeing mistakes corrected. He felt it essential that KURA records be made available to the aldermen at all times.

With KURA officials on Wednesday's tour of Broadway East were Stanley Freeman, DHUD urban renewal representative to Kingston; Al Blackwell, relocation advisor, and Peter Harkins, who deals with the housing phase of UR projects. They were shown sites cleared of rubble, new sidewalks laid and others repaired, protective fencing at demolition sites, and other work which has been completed since the May 3 DHUD letter.

School Hearing Held

Few Objections to Budget

By WALTER S. CLARK

Although the proposed 1967-68 budget for the Kingston School District Consolidated shows an increase of $1,677,411 and an unestimated increase in the tax rate is anticipated, a virtual handful of taxpayers attended a public hearing at George Washington School.

Only 16 persons in addition to Board of Education members, administrators and a few employes in the school district were present when Sam S. Pepper, vice-president of the board, opened the hearing at 8:05 p. m. Later 27 persons were counted, but less than a half dozen taxpayers participated in the question and answer session which lasted about three hours.

85 PC Mandated

There was no organized opposition to the proposed $10,892,062 budget and questions asked indicated a minimum of objection to various items. Board members and administrators emphasized that the increases in the budget were due to rising costs of material and equipment, increases in salaries of the professional and non-professional staffs and inflationary prices.

Pepper noted at the opening of the hearing that the budget shows a substantial increase and pointed out that more than 85 per cent of the cost items are either mandated by State or Federal law over which the board has no control. Legally mandated items include Social Security, Teacher's Retirement Fund and other items.

The estimated tax levy for 1967-68 is $5,472,252. The estimated receipts total $5,664.810.

A breakdown of the budget, which will be officially acted upon by resolution of the board on June 30, shows the following: Board of Education $65,534; central administration $180,664; instruction — regular day schools $6,481,408; instruction — special schools $83,535; transportation $488,085; operation and maintenance of plant $780,768; undistributed expense $1,359,202; debt service—principal $1,071,000 and interest $371,690; inter-fund transfers $10,176.

Apathy Scored

Supt. of Schools Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Arthur Withall, board president; Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for business management; Robert J. Markes, associate superintendent for curriculum and instruction and members of the board were prepared last night to answer most questions asked by the small group of taxpayers.

During discussions, a taxpayer said it was "very pathetic" to see such a few people at the hearing. Another referred to the small turnout of taxpayers as "a shame."

In reply to questions Dr. Hoover said the enrollment this year was approximately 10,300 pupils, and the approximate figure for next term will be close to 10,800.

The cost per pupil in the school system was reported by Shaw for the school year 1965-66 at $800.61. He noted that for the same period general fund appropriations per pupil for the entire State of New York except New York City was $844.87. It was said the approximate cost per pupil for the 1966-67 school term would be about $900 and for the next year it might rise to approximately $928 per pupil.

28 New Teachers

Markes said 28 new teachers would be added to the professional teaching staff in September.

Objection was voiced by a taxpayer to the method used in presenting the budget items to the public, and a request was made to list each item rather than group the figures under a single title. Requests also were made to provide taxpayers with copies of the budget early in order they may have time to study it before the hearing.

Board members noted that copies of the budget were available for several weeks.

A taxpayer objected to an item of $14,000 in the budget for Kingston Library. It was explained the amount will be used to "buy services" at the library for pupils attending schools on a secondary level who use the library for reference. It was noted that Kingston Library is the only reference library in the district.

Prior to the open hearing, Warren A. Russell, audio visual education director, presented a documentary explaining various areas of the budget.

Decision on Summit Up to LBJ, Kosygin

By LEWIS GULICK

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin may decide today whether to hold a summit meeting. Kosygin's stay in the United States was drawing to a close, and Wednesday night their foreign ministers left the final decision to their two chiefs.

This became known after a three-hour dinner meeting between U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at Rusk's suite in the Waldorf Towers.

Rusk and Gromyko dealt with summit possibilities in a discussion which also ranged over the U.N. General Assembly special session on the Middle East and other unspecified items of U.S.-Soviet interest.

Gromyko told newsmen afterward that Kosygin would be returning to Moscow soon but probably not before Friday.

Since Johnson had a heavy schedule in Washington today, it appeared unlikely that even a brief Big Two parley could take place until Friday or later. Some expected Kosygin would stay in New York until the end of the week.

One possible indication of a Johnson-Kosygin meeting came Wednesday when the White House announced that Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag of Denmark would see the President in Washington today instead of Friday, as previously scheduled.

Whether the government chiefs of the two superpowers would meet at all remained very much an open question. The White House insisted Wednesday that no arrangements had been made.

The issue has become tied to questions of policy and prestige, with Kosygin against journeying from New York to Washington to call on Johnson and vice versa.

The problem of a meeting place arose soon after Kosygin arrived last Saturday to spearhead the Soviet drive for a U.N. demand that Israel withdraw from the territory it occupied in the Middle East war. Kosygin in his U.N. speech also hit at U.S. policy in the Middle East and elsewhere.

Johnson invited the Soviet leader to visit him in Washington or nearby. Kosygin said he was on a visit to the United Nations rather than to the United States as such but left the door open for Johnson to come see him.

Since the U.S. government considers the U.N. session a Kremlin maneuver to curry favor with the Arabs, Johnson was reported opposed to lending his prestige to the assembly session or making what appeared to be a pilgrimage to Kosygin.

Kosygin presumably did not want to risk Arab wrath by appearing to make a pilgrimage to Johnson or seeming too friendly with him. The Arabs charge the United States with aiding Israel in the war.

But there was pressure on both leaders to demonstrate by at least a token meeting that the two great powers are not about to plunge the world into a new cold war or worse.

If they do meet, they thus are likely to do so mainly for the publicity value. Top-level talks on basic international issues usually make little headway without careful advance preparation, and there has been virtually no time for such preparation in this case.

Rusk and Gromyko normally cover the broad range of East-West questions in private talks during General Assembly sessions. Their meeting Wednesday night was their first such this session, and whether they would meet again was left uncertain. Rusk planned to return to Washington late Friday.

France's Appraisal at U. N.

Ties Viet to Mideast Peace

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — France declared today that as long as the war in Vietnam continues there is "no chance for peace in the Middle East."

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, in his nation's policy statement in the General Assembly debate on the Arab-Israeli war, said that ending war in Vietnam would "require a courageous and fruitful decision on the part of a great state" — meaning the United States.

Should the Vietnamese war end, he said, "then new horizons would open up."

Neither Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin nor Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was present to hear the French statement.

They were at the Soviet mission, preparing to be hosts at a luncheon to U.N Secretary-General U Thant, and perhaps waiting for a break on the possibility of a Kosygin meeting with President Johnson.

The French foreign minister's statement was mild in tone. He avoided the direct condemnation of Israel that had highlighted a statement Wednesday by President Charles de Gaulle. And he appealed for a negotiated settlement of the Middle East crisis, which he repeatedly called grave and dangerous to world peace.

For the Arabs, De Gaulle said Israel started the war and France does not consider any Israeli territorial gains to be final. For the Israelis, he said every Middle East state, "notably Israel," has a right to live and he condemned the Arab threat to destroy the Jewish state.

U.S. and Soviet sources indicated that Johnson and Kosygin may decide today whether to meet in the brief time left before the Soviet premier's departure.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko discussed summit possibilities at a three-hour dinner meeting at Rusk's Waldorf Tower suite Wednesday night. But they left the final decision to their chiefs.

Gromyko told newsmen Kosygin would return to Moscow soon but probably not before Friday. Johnson had a full schedule in Washington today, and it appeared that if even a brief courtesy meeting was arranged, it would be Friday or during the weekend.

In the General Assembly Wednesday, Israel quickly rejected Britain's warning not to claim all of Jerusalem as a prize of war.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown declared Israel would isolate itself from world opinion if it held onto Old Jerusalem wrested from Jordan. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that his government had expressed determination to see that Jerusalem would never again, become a divided city and a war arena.

Mother, Son Are Burned in Ellenville Blast

Mrs. Dorothy Avery, 35, of Clinton Avenue and Cossar Place, Ellenville, and her son, Joseph, 17, were burned today when an explosion tore through their home. They were taken to Ellenville Memorial Hospital.

The explosion occurred, authorities said, when the son tried to light a gas waterheater in the cellar. The blast demolished an outside wall and knocked out a power transformer. Electrical service in the area was disrupted. It was reported there was little fire damage.

Mrs. Avery was reported to be in good condition. Her son is listed as fair.

U.S. Ponders Aid For Loser, Jordan

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is quietly considering what it can do to help Jordan, which appears to be the big loser in the Arab-Israeli war.

There are three key reasons for special U.S. attention to the plight of Jordan, officials explain.

—Jordan's loss of relatively more territory than Egypt or Syria, and of important sources of revenue, including income from tourism with such tourist attractions as Jerusalem and Bethlehem now in Israeli hands.

—The problem of refugees who left their homes west of the Jordan River in panic when the Israelis advanced.

—The belief that despite his participation in the war against Israel, King Hussein, Jordan's ruler, is still the best friend the United States has in the Arab world. Hussein, with Saudi Arabia's King Feisal, can again represent moderation against the leaders in Damascus and Cairo, U.S. officials hope.

Hussein, officials recalled, departed from the Arab propaganda line when he admitted at a June 19 news conference he had no proof of U.S. or British air support for the Israeli side.

Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser used charges of such air support as one excuse for the Arab defeat. The Johnson administration hopes this charge eventually will be discredited in the Arab world.

Hussein, it is believed in Washington, virtually became Nasser's prisoner when the Egyptians took control of the Gulf of Aqaba after withdrawal of the U.N. peacekeeping force. Jordan's only outlet to the sea, the Port of Aqaba, is in the Gulf and Hussein seemingly had no choice but to fall in line with Nasser.

Jordan's military hardware is believed to have been almost destroyed during the war with Israel. It consisted exclusively of British and American equipment, including about 300 modern tanks and about 50 planes.

What the United States will do to help Jordan is not clear. There is no hurry in rearming Hussein, though sources say eventually this must be done — with a proper ceiling — to prevent the Soviets from becoming exclusive arms supplier of the Arab world.

Some economic assistance, however, must come soon, officials acknowledged.

Officially, aid to Jordan is under review. Before the war broke out Jordan was expected to receive $30 milion in "supporting assistance" from the United States for the next fiscal year.

A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee is reported drafting a call for review of U.S. aid policies toward Middle East countries which cut diplomatic relations with the United States during the war. Jordan did not sever relations.

In an announcement Wednesday, the State Department left Jordan as one of nine Arab countries where Americans can travel only under special restrictions.

The department lifted its June 5 restrictions on travel to Israel, Morocco, Tunisia, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. Under the restrictions — also still imposed on travel to Algeria, Iraq, Lebanon, Libya, Sudan, Syria, United Arab Republic and Yemen — American citizens are required to obtain passports specifically endorsed by the State Department in order to travel to these countries.

Administration officials also said Wednesday they are studying what can be done to help Arabs who fled territories occupied by Israel. report is expected next week.

The State Department said it has informed Libya it is ready to continue talks on Libya's request that the United States close down Wheelus Air Force Base.

Rain Dampens Atlanta Riot

By JOE ZELLNER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rainshowers dampened hot, muggy weather and helped wash away fears of racial violence Wednesday night after four nights of disturbances erupted in gunfire leaving one dead and several injured.

As calm returned to the predominantly Negro Dixie Hills section, "black power" advocate Stokely Carmichael faced a hearing today on charges stemming from a brief flareup over the weekend.

Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was arrested on a charge of failing to heed an officer's command to move on. He was freed on bond.

Police officials canceled all leaves and vacations in anticipation of more violence, but no trouble was reported Wednesday night.

A relaxation of Mayor Ivan Allen's curfew order keyed efforts to reduce tension.

At the urging of State Sen. Leroy Johnson and other Negro leaders, Allen reduced the curfew from 12 hours to six — from midnight to 6 a.m. He said it would not hinder persons sitting on porches for relief from the heat or going about their normal business.

In the only reported incident, a policeman found a smoking bottle filled with flammable liquid on top of a supermarket during the afternoon. It was extinguished easily.

Negro leaders and city officials worked feverishly to restore peace.

Johnson said about 1,000 persons who live in the area signed a petition aimed at showing the neighborhood did not support the violence.

"We want to let the Atlanta public know that 95 per cent of the people in that area are not supporting the rioting," said Johnson, whose district includes Dixie Hills.

Luci's Baby Fine; 'Everybody Happy' Nugent Exclaims

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent gave her baby his first bottle of sugar and water, and doctors reported everything was going well with the President's daughter and his first grandchild.

Patrick Lyndon Nugent was reported making perfect progress in the maternity wing of Seton Hsospital, where he was born Wednesday morning.

"Everybody's happy," said father Patrick J. Nugent as he gave an interview Wednesday night, 12 hours after the birth of his first child.

Wife Gay, Cheerful

The baby was wheeled in his bassinet into Luci's hospital room for a first feeding of water and glucose, Nugent said.

The 23-year-old Nugent smilingly confessed he found fatherhood an enjoyable experience.

He reported his 19-year-old wife "gay and cheerful." She had received a telegram from her father, the President, in which Nugent said Lyndon B. Johnson sent word that "his prayers were with her."

There was a continuing flow of flowers for the President's daughter at the hospital, where she and her baby were occupying the fourth-floor maternity-wing hospital rooms under Secret Service guard.

One of the floral displays, moved into Luci's room, came from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a White House spokesman here said.

Nugent handed out cigars and candy as he announced with tears in his eyes and in a cracking voice early Wednesday that his wife had given birth to an 8-pound, 10-ounce baby boy, 21 inches long.

"It's an elephant, isn't it?" Nugent commented to reporters with a big grin.

Toward the end of the day, Nugent confided he chose the name for his first offspring. It was a combination of his own name and that of his paternal grandfather with a middle name of Lyndon after his father-in-law, the President.

Expected Girl

He also confided he had expected his first child to be a girl—"I don't know why."

The President and First Lady expressed their happiness and Mrs. Johnson said she was relieved as well that the birth went without a hitch.

Luci was in labor at the hospital for six hours and her delivery team of five doctors said it was a perfectly normal labor and delivery.

Family and friends were notified and Nugent said he called his brother, Gerard P. Nugent Jr., in San Diego, Calif., whose wife, Phyllis, is expecting a baby any time now.

Meanwhile things were settling into a routine at the hospital for Luci and her newborn son.

Visiting with her during the evening, Nugent decided what his wife should choose from the hospital menu. Instead of the dinner offerings, she picked hot cereal, to the surprise of the nurse on duty.

The family left to Nugent the announcement of the birth of his first son, and he offered reporters cigars and candy and a beaming report on his wife's progress.

After the grueling day, Pat said he wanted to sleep and headed for the fashionable $70,000 Nugent home about four miles from the hospital.

Her doctors said they thought Luci would remain in the hospital "approximately five days."

The President was scheduled to travel to Los Angeles to attend a President's Club fund-raising dinner Friday night and speculation was he might stop off to see Luci and his grandson.

Mrs. Johnson said she had no plans to join her husband for the California trip. She continued commuting between the LBJ Ranch, Seton Hospital and the Nugent home, a circuit of some 65 miles.

Luci's family doctor, Charles W. Bailey, stopped by the hospital Wednesday night and reported she was "doing beautifully." He said he was extremely pleased with her progress.

Red Hook OKs $1,954,095; Rhinebeck Veto 1st Since '55

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Red Hook Central School taxpayers approved a $1,954,095 budget Wednesday night but Rhinebeck Central saw its $1,450,694 proposed budget go down to defeat by a substantial 501 to 254.

The last time Rhinebeck voters rejected a school budget, according to Walter Snyder, clerk and business manager of the Board of Education, was back in 1955.

What this means is that the board can revise the budget and re-submit it to the voters at a later date or work on an austerity budget wherein transportation facilities would be cut down to a minimum, with students walking or being driven two or three miles to the nearest bus stop, and buildings being used only to educate the child, subtracting night adult classes and community meetings.

The increase in state aid to Rhinebeck Central this year is only $3,385, bringing up the total to $528,700.

President of the Board Robert W. Asher had stated last week that increases in the proposed budget were due to the fact that, "we are in the position of a small school turning big" and he added that there were nine new transportation routes this year.

It is unlikely that those new routes will be activated.

Along with the Red Hook budget, which was passed by a 278 to 58 margin, Robert Bowman was elected to the Board of Education over Robert Rockefeller 221 to 185.

Bowman is a Red Hook Village trustee and manager of Silver Lake Dairy.

Passed also was permission to construct a bus storage facility on the Mill Road Site (279 to 77) and the granting of classroom space to the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) to house two classes for the mentally handicapped (271 to 56).

State aid for the Red Hook school district has increased by $220,688, from $999,312 to $1,220,000.

In what was considered to be a light turnout of voters, Mrs. Donald Bartles defeated Mrs. Helen F. Crowley for a five-year term on the Board of Education, James F. Kelly won over Mrs. Charles E. Rider for a two-year term and William J. McCord, an incumbent who ran unopposed, received a vote of confidence to complete another five-year term.

Rhinebeck Taxes

The Rhinebeck budget was built on an increase of $168,722. This meant that voters faced an increase in taxes of $5.59.

Board President Asher had said that the tentative tax rate for the Town of Rhinebeck would be $18.95 per $1,000 valuation which would mark the $5.59 increase from this years rate of $13.36.

This would have been the first increase in the tax rate since 1963.

The lack of appreciable increase in state aid to the district was considered a major factor in the requested increase.

Asher had noted that the percentage in state aid to the school district had dropped because the district's average true valuation per pupil attendance hour had exceeded the state average.

A public hearing on the budget was held Monday night and some resistance to the increase was noted.

Expect Censure Move Defeat

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP —Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says he's confident his colleagues will reject a resolution censuring him despite overwhelming defeat of a bid to wipe out one set of charges against the Connecticut Democrat.

The Senate, in its first vote after seven days of debate, rejected 92 to 2 Wednesday a proposal for dropping charges of financial misconduct in connection with campaign and testimonial funds, and substituting an admonishment not to do anything wrong in the future.

Dodd, excused from voting at his own request, said the lopsided vote didn't discourage him.

The white-haired, two-term senator told newsmen later he has "complete confidence" in the final outcome because : "I have been guilty of no conscious wrongdoing."

Expected today are the showdown votes on the two counts in the censure resolution recommended by the Senate ethics committee following a 14-month probe of Dodd's financial affairs.

One count charges Dodd with converting $116,083 raised at political testimonials and similar events to his own use. The second accuses the senator of double-billing the Senate and private groups for travel expenses. Each is to be voted on separately.

Only Sen. Russell B. Long — author of the proposed substitute resolution — and Dodd's fellow Connecticut Democrat, Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, voted for it in the late-Wednesday balloting.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the bipartisan ethics commitee, called the substitute resolution "a ridiculous thing."

"This doesn't say anything," Stennis told the Senate. "It is just a lot of words. It is double-talk."

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, the ethics panel vice chairman, warned acceptance of the watered-down version would make the Senate a laughing stock.

Long, D-La., Dodd's self-appointed defender, conceded his proposal was mild. But he said Dodd deserves nothing more severe.

Dodd said the real question was: "Have I got the dough or not? And I don't have it. If I did I'd get out.'

Dodd obtained permission to leave the Senate chamber while the roll was called, saying he didn't want his presence to embarrass his colleagues. His wife and members of their family also withdrew from the gallery, where they have occupied front-row seats throughout the first seven days of debate.

After the vote, Ribicoff issued a statement saying he was "filled with compassion for Tom Dodd and his family."

"I have searched my conscience and my heart and cannot find it there to do them special hurt by voting for the censure of my colleague," he said.

Ribicoff, who faces re-election next year, has been regarded as on a spot politically with a vote either way likely to cost him support. Dodd's current term expires in 1970.

"Tom Dodd and his family have been through purgatory during the past 18 months," Ribicoff said. "He has suffered, and suffered deeply. The question has become for me: How much suffering must a man endure?"

The solution would have been for the ethics committee to draw up a code of conduct for Senate adoption and, pending this, admonish Dodd to avoid any conduct that might be construed "as being in derogation of the high standards of ethics" by which a senator should be governed.

It did not deal with the double-billing charge at all but would have found Dodd used proceeds of testimonial affairs and campaign contributions to retire indebtedness he incurred in running for the Senate first in 1956 and again in 1958.

Dodd contends only a small amount of campaign money was inadvertently used for personal expenses and the $170,000 in testimonial funds was intended as a gift for him to use as he saw fit. He said he was convinced the people of Connecticut had not been misled about that.

Before the vote on Long's substitute resolution, Dodd reiterated the money he had received had been more than offset — by $50,000 or more — by the costs of running for office and holding office.

Denying lavish living, he said in an auguished voice, "My wife raised six children, she has made her own clothes, and she has cooked our food."

PROTEST AND DISSENT

Protest and dissent are not for youth alone. Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, did some dissenting of his own at the university's baccalaureate service last week. People of all ages would do well to heed him.

Pusey protested the idea frequently asserted by impatient radicals that our society is so rotten through and through that it has only to be scuttled since there is nothing redeemable in it. He lauded the concern of the present generation with a better social order, but, he warned, to think that institutions stand in the way of better social order and that justice and fairness will come if they could be gotten rid of, is wholly illusory.

He also dissented from the idea that the generations must continuously be at war. The notion that people under the age of 30 are trustworthy, whereas those above that age are not, is hard to accept. If one learns anything from a lifetime of association with people, it is that you cannot place them on a scale of merit, however you define merit, by a criterion of age. There are various ways of behaving during a lifetime, but neither fault-finding nor escape would do.

Obviously, Pusey had much to protest and dissent. The question is whether the youth of today will believe it, or whether they must experinece it first to believe it. That has been the way of most generations, which is why mankind repeats its errors over and over again.

U.S. ATOM CAPACITY

The 25-year policy of secrecy about the atom capacity of the United States was broken when Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, announced the capacity of the three plants that manufacture the highly fissionable material Uranium-235. Knowledgeable persons figured that the material was enough for at least 480 nuclear weapons a year.

The computation was based on the amount of Uranium-235 needed to create explosive fission as revealed in the wartime Smythe report. At peak capacity, in 1956 and 1957, it was estimated that the matter then available was enough for at least 820 weapons a year.

Though the production figures did not specify the number of bombs, missiles and other nuclear arms made at the plants, the estimates were not discouraged. The information was released primarily to enable the power industry here and abroad to make judgments concerning the adequacy of the plants here to meet worldwide nuclear fuel requirements for power reactors for peaceful purposes.

The plants are located at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio. Together, they supply all the needs of the United States for nuclear weapons and, in addition, for power reactors that could use the fuel. The United States is now in a position to satisfy the worldwide demand for nuclear fuel as fast as reactors are built.

THE LAST FRONTIER

It is hard to believe, but the U.S. Public Health Service reports that one-fifth of the population in this country has never been to a dentist and of the 39 per cent who do go at least once a year, most are driven by a toothache. Going regularly to the dentist is not yet an accepted thing. It is the last frontier of medicine.

Poverty and fear of the pain keep people away from the dentist, not realizing that much of the misery can be prevented by regular attention. For instance, eight out of the ten teeth that are lost stem from poor gums, which could easily have been treated if they were disagnosed in time.

No amount of publicity about new dental techniques or equipment appears to draw men to the dentist's office except in distress. But women do generally understand the need for preventive treatment. They are interested in the cosmetic advantages of good teeth, too.

There are many areas of the country where it is taken for granted that teeth are pulled at a given age and false teeth are made. That is perhaps the most devastating attitude there is about dentistry. The enlightened view is that oral medicine is as important as any health care and well tended teeth contribute to the health of the whole body.

The 8.9 million widows in the country last year were more than four times the number of widowers. That's not surprising, because men in their drive for place and fortune drop off first. What is surprising is that 11 million, or one-fifth of American families, are bereft of one parent.

Perhaps because of its famed night spots, Nevada has led the country for years in per capita consumption of liquor—3.99 gallons per capita now, as compared to its next door neighbor, California's 2.05 gallons per person. However, California leads in total consupmtion, 38.8 million gallons.

Rockefeller Candidacy Gains Momentum

WASHINGTON—The non-campaign of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the 1968 Republican Presidential nomination is still gaining momentum as some small traces of activity now creep into the Governor's nonactive stance.

Though Rockefeller's declared purpose remains that of bringing about the nomination instead of Gov. George Romney of Michigan, this aim is clearly drawing no overwhelming support. Almost—but perhaps not quite—in spite of himself, it is Nelson Rockefeller who seems to be rising and George Romney who seems to be declining.

This is not the consequence of any deep plot by Rockefeller — who is neither the subtlest nor the savviest practical politician alive. It is due to circumstances not truly in his control. The factors that are forwarding Rockefeller and checking the Romney movement, in short, are the state of the outer world and the persistent inability of Romney to come through as a Presidential aspirant prospectively capable of dealing clearly, and above all decisevly, with the endless foreign crises with which the United States has been, and no doubt will be, beset.

Rockefeller's attachment to the Romney candidacy has rested upon two considerations.

The first is a simple, gut determination to block any nomination for former Vice-President Richard Nixon. The Rockefeller theory has been that the best man to do that would be Romney.

Rockefeller's second assumption has been that he himself would never be forgiven by the party's conservatives for his obvious political antipathy to its choice of Barry Goldwater in 1964.

Both assumptions now, however, are in objective reality not so strong as they once were. For the plain truth is that Nelson Rockefeller's domestic liberalism, an extreme liberalism in the orthodox Republican view, is not in any case so advanced as it used to be.

Moreover, and far more importantly, he has consistently demonstrated a grasp of foreign affairs more coherent and far more decisive than that shown by Romney. It is this circumstance that is promoting Rockefeller even though he continues to say he is not a candidate.

Where Romney, for illustration, has at varying times looked both ways on the war in Vietnam, Rockefeller has consistenly looked one way alone. He has given unbroken support to the bipartisan policy of firm American military resistance to the Communist invaders. And in this he has undeniably been at one with the vast majority of Republican President, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

This is a matter of capital importance, for it has long been perfectly clear that the G.O.P. would have the greatest of difficulty in choosing as its nominee any man who was not fully at home in the party's consensus for a hard line against Communist military conquet.

The long and short of it is that two Republican Presidential possibilities, and two alone, totally and carddidly fill that bill as of now—Rockefeller and Nixon himself. (Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio, the latter a dark-horse of considerably more potential than is generally realized, could fill it later, too. But this would first require a national buildup of a kind not thus far put in motion for either.)

Finally, there is this point: Even granting Rockefeller's poor-mouth estimate of his own unacceptability to the conservative Republicans, it is hard to see how Romney could find more hospitality among them. For if Rockefeller made his displeasure with Goldwater quite clear, Romney went all the way into an open bolt of the Goldwater ticket. (Copyright, 1967, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Diplomats Believe 'Open Door' Left Open by Kosygin Speech

By BETTY FLYNN
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

UNITED NATIONS, June 20—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's speech to the General Assembly has left an "open door" toward the possibility of a summit conference on the Middle East, many diplomats here believe.

"Much depends on the efforts of the big powers," Kosygin told the 122-member body.

"It would be good if their delegations as well found common language in order to reach decisions meeting the interests of peace in the Middle East and the interests of universal peace."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is scheduled to present the American viewpoint when the assembly reconvenes today at 10:30 a. m. EDT.

His speech is expected to emphasize the need for discussions, possibly with the use of the U.N. or some other third party as a mediator.

Sec. of State Dean Rusk was scheduled to attend the Assembly Session today. Some observers here speculated he might meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at some point arrange behind - the - scenes talks.

Informed sources here report Goldberg had been urging President Johnson to attend the emergency session and present the U.S. viewpoint. This, reports say, was one reason the United States jumped in for first place on the speakers' list.

When Mr. Johnson decided against attending the U.N. session, Goldberg relinquished first place to Kosygin as a courtesy gesture.

Apparently, Goldberg feels privately a summit conference should take place while the Soviet leader is in the United States.

Kosygin met with U.A.R. Deputy Premier Mahmoud Fawzi and with Danish Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag yesterday after the Assembly adjourned. Krag is also reported to be pressing for a summit meeting.

Kosygin's speech was considered milder in tone than the speeches delivered by Soviet Ambassador to the U.N. Nikolai T. Jederenko in the Security Council during the last few weeks.

However, the substance is considered clear, direct, even blunt.

He presented a four-point draft resolution, asking the Assembly to condemn Israel as the aggressor, demanding that Israel withdraw its troops "immediately and without and condition," demanding that Israel make full restitution for damages inflicted on Arab States durthe war and appealing to the Security Council to erase the "consequences" of Israeli aggression.

Delegates here believe the resolution has little chance of success. It would require a two-thirds majority for passage.

In some diplomats' view, Kosygin also hinted the Soviet Union might press for Arab recognition of Israel as a state.

"The Soviet Union is not against Israel," Kosygin said, "it is against the aggressive policy pursued by the ruling circles of that state."

He recalled that the Soviet Union had voted for the creation of a Jewish State in Palestine in 1947.

At the same time, Kosygin implicated the United States as an accomplice in encouraging Israel to pursue military activities against Arab states.

"The responsibility for the dangerous situation in the Middle East lies squarely, not only with Israel, but also with those who backed it in these events," he said.

Goldberg called the inference an "unfounded and unworthy insinuation."

Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban gave an eloquent defense of Israel's military activities against the United Arab Republic, Jordan and Syria.

"The Burden of responsibility (for the Middle East) crisis) rests heavy" with the Soviet Union, he said.

Israel had displayed "stoic patience" in the face of a "chorus of threats" from Arab capitals, he said.

Before Kosygin launched into his explanation of the Soviet position in the Middle East, he took a jab at the U.S. role in Vietnam.

"For nearly three years now, the U.S.,, having cast aside all camouflage, has been carrying out direct aggression against the Vietnamese people," he said.

"There is a way to solve the Vietnamese problem and it is a simple one: the U.S. must leave Vietnam, it must withdraw its forces."

The Soviet Premier's speech also accused West Germany of "hare-brained" plans, including pressing for access to nuclear weapons, and of complicity in encouraging Israel to fight.

There was an interesting contradiction in Soviet logic noted by observers. Kosygin cited West Germany's "refusal to put up with the results of the war"—i.e. the division of Germany after World War II—at the same time as he was insisting Israel immediately withdraw its troops, thus sacrificing its military gains from the six-day war with the Arabs.

Question U Thant's Usefulness

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 22 — The usefulness of U Thant as secretary general of the United Nations has come into question. Without, placing the matter before the U.N. General Assembly, he granted promptly last month President Nasser's request that the U.N. peace-keeping force be withdrawn from the armistice line on the Israeli border. This led to the outbreak of hostilities in the Middle East.

Two pertinent documents now have been made public. One plainly sets forth the views of the late Dag Hammarskjold, who, as secretary-general in 1956, arranged with President Nasser for the U.N. force to go on duty at the armistice line and stay there "until the task of the force was completed." The other is the reply just made by U Thant to the Hammarskjold memorandum.

It is clear that Mr. Harmarskjold knew there was a delicate point involved, and he left for future guidance a carefully written record and analysis of the whole subject. U Thant now brushes this aside as an interpretation not binding upon him.

But there is a difference between an argument over the right of Egypt to ask for the withdrawal of the U.N.'s peace-keeping force and the obligation of the secretary-general to submit the whole matter to the general assembly for its consideration and decision.

The real issue is what Secretary Thant should have done about Egypt's request. He consulted on May 17 with the members of the advisory committee of the United Nations emergency force—representatives of India, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Brazil, Yugoslavia and Canada. Some of these envoys warned him that he should take the matter up with the General Assembly.

Unfortunately, however, the secretary-general had already advised Egypt that, if it formally requested withdrawal of the peace-keeping force, this would be granted. It was really not too late even then for a special meeting of the general assembly to be called to deal with the problem, but U Thant took no such steps and said that "it is not within the competence of the general assembly to act." He felt that he himself had no choice but to grant the request from Nasser for the withdrawal. This he did on May 18.

The Hammarskjold memorandum of August 1957, on the other hand, argued these same points and emphasized that Egypt had made a "good faith" agreement not to withdraw its "consent" to the presence of the peace-keeping force without submitting the matter to the General Assembly. The late secretary-general wrote:

"My starting point in the consideration of this last-mentioned problem—the limitation of Egypt's sovereign right in the interest of political balance and stability in the United Nations Emergency Force operation—was the fact that Egypt had spontaneously endorsed the General Assembly resolution of Nov. 5, 1956 (creating the force) and by endorsing that resolution had consented to the presence of the United Nations Emergency Force for certain tasks. They could thus not ask the U.N.E.F. to withdraw before the completion of the tasks without running up against their own acceptance of the resolution on the force and its tasks."

Mr. Hammarskjold also mentions that he put squarely to President Nasser the necessity for an "agreement on withdrawal" with respect to the peace-keeping force, and told him that, "unless an agreement of this type was made," the secretary-general would recommend to the General Assembly the immediate withdrawal of the troops which had just been sent in to police the armistice. Egypt's president was so anxious to have the peace-keeping force established that he acquiesced in the agreement.

The present secretary-general now says that, while he was aware of the Hammarskjold memorandum, it was not an "official document." But the points made cannot be erased. For the duty of the secretary-general is not to resolve such an important issue himself but to leave this to the United Nations, of which he is merely an administrative official.

The making of vital decicions is the function of the Security Council or the General Assembly as set forth in the Charter itself. As it turned out, the one-man ruling gave encouragement to Egypt, which promptly mobilized its forces on the borders of Israel, and war ensued. Certainly the U.N. should provide against a recurrence of such blunders.

'These Days'

By John Chamberlain

A SOLUTION OF THE SUEZ CANAL ISSUE

If the UN is really looking to a solution for the problem of users' access to the Suez Canal, why not recur to the proposition of non-political ownership?

Interestingly enough, Christopher Stone, a young law professor at the University of Southern California, thinks that a proprietary corporation might be a good approach to resolving all the great problems of the oceans, providing navigational services, regulating fishing rights, and developing underseas resources. Professor Stone happens to be the son of I. F. Stone, the Leftist editor of I. F. Stone's Weekly, a Washington, D. C., publication which would scarcely find anything to commend in the proprietary idea. But the son, who is just as radical as his father, only in an opposite direction, may be on the track of something that could be applied as a starter to the Suez waterway.

As a matter of record, proprietary non-political ownership of the Suez was proposed back in the middle Nineteen Fifties by a retired airplane propeller manufacturer named Spencer Heath. Mr. Heath's blueprint makes interesting reading today. It called for "the leading shipping interests who use the Canal to form a Canal Owners Corporation to be chartered by each one and all" of the eighteen or more governments, including Egypt, which were "most interested."

According to the Heath outline, the powers and limitations of the proprietary corporation were to be defined and agreed upon by the various governments, with Egypt being handsomely rewarded for its participation in a joint territorial sovereignty with cash payments from funds raised by the new corporation. The payments were to be guaranteed by all the interested governments in proportion to their original interest in establishing the charter.

Mr. Heath's suggestion, in the Fifties, called for the issue of new Suez Corporation shares to pay for taking over the old equity rights in the Canal. As of 1967, the equity rights, presumably, would be purchased from Egypt itself. But arrangements could be made to diffuse stock ownership in the new corporation to the ends of the earth, with allotments for sale in all the maritime nations. Mr. Heath thought a proprietary canal corporation would "make such profits that it could duplicate the Canal," thus allowing for "one-way traffic both ways."

As a "solvent and stable business corporation," said Mr. Heath, "its shares would come into wide demand . . . especially among those persons and corporations most engaged in commerce among the nations." There would be a "covenant of non-aggression against any of the tangible properties and rights of the new corporation."

Mr. Heath's proposition was dismissed as a pipe dream in the Fifties. Presumably, it won't get anywhere as long as Nasser nourishes the dream of pushing Israel into the sea and closing out the Middle East to any nation that refuses to deal with an Arab monopoly of the Suez waterway. Eventually, however, the Egyptians may get tired of Nasser's pursuit of glory. The Indonesians put up with Sukarno, their own Nasser, until he had run a potentially rich island empire into complete bankruptcy. Then they decided to get rid of him.

When disillusion sets in over Nasser's inability to put Egypt on the path to an economic development that will feed its steadily increasing population, some subsequent leader might be interested in creating a proprietary canal company that would take the issue of access to an international waterway out of politics. There would be pleanty of room for both Jew and Arab in the Middle East if only the political feuding could be brought to an end and commercial and industrial development be allowed to take over.

Port Ewen, N. Y.
June 20, 1967

Editor, The Freeman:

Once again the administration has yielded to the whims of the Russians. Our President has decreed, that as a matter of policy, we too, believe that Israel should give back the territory she took in her fight for her existence. Is it only coincident that the Communist bloc has been demanding the same thing? Is it at all reasonable to remove the penalty and price for aggression? Will that deter the Arabs from making another attempt, if the U.N. hands them a "suspended sentence," so to speak?

I can see no logical reason why we are not 100 per cent in support of this country that has shown more courage and determination in 55 hours than this great country has since WW II. Why are we now abandoning her to the lopsided democracy of the U.N.?

These are only a few of the questions that have been raised by the administration's foreign policy, or lack of it. Some others you might ask yourself, or your representatives, is, why do we refuse to let the soldiers in Vietnam end the war victoriously by tying their hands with restrictions? Why do we increase trade with the Bloc that is supplying North Vietnam with our own materials? Why do we tolerate the infection of Cuba? Why do we support the sanctions against Rhodesia? How is it that the U.N. Charter is able to supersede our Constitution? Try these on your Congressman or Senator, then try to understand the answer if you get one.

JOHN D. CHONTOS JR.

June 20, 1967

Editor, The Freeman:

The Communist war machine has been responsible for the aggressions against Israel and South Vietnam. Yet, it is ironic that Israel, the nation that can defend itself, receives all the Free World's sympathy and support, while South Vietnam, the nation that cannot defend itself, receives scorn and hatred. Is it because Israel is a white nation, while South Vietnam is colored? Many of the finks and peaceniks who were burning the American flag and cheering the Viet Cong, are now demanding America fight the whole Arab world, if necessary, to support Israel. I realize most of these pot-heads are incapable of logical, rational thinking, but to the average citizen, their phoniness is becoming obvious.

Can't Decide on Tax Increase

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, June 20—Administration officials are talking cautiously about raising income taxes by more than 6 per cent this year—especially if President Johnson approves a big new U.S. buildup in Vietnam.

The size of the coming tax increase, informed sources said, is linked to the President's decision on whether to expand American troop strength to 600,000 in the war zone. Present strength is 463,000.

A 6 per cent surtax is justified to dampen anticipated inflationary pressures at the present rate of military spending, government economists have said.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and a high-high-level team of presidential advisers are going to Vietnam soon to "review all aspects of the war." They may return with a recommendation on troop levels.

"We can't decide about the size of a tax increase until we decide whether we are going for broke in Vietnam," one official said. A U.S. force of 1,000,000 might call for a 10 per cent tax increase, he added.

Many informed congressmen, including Chairman George Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, have forecast a big increase in U.S. forces in Vietnam and a corresponding rise in in spending above the budget submitted last January.

John D. Sullivan Dies; Was New York Official

John Dwight Sullivan, 73, a one-time state commander of the American Legion and deputy comptroller of New York City, died Wednesday in Benedictine Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Sullivan retired from a New York City law firm in 1966 and moved from Scarsdale, Westchester County, to Phoenicia. He served in the New York City office for two years in the early 1930's during the administration of the late Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia. He was state commander of the Legion in 1934-35.

Princeton Graduate

Mr. Sullivan, an alumnus of Princeton University, class of 1915, was graduated from the New York Law School in 1918, but meanwhile served in France as a first lieutenant and pilot in the Aviation section of the Signal Corps.

In civilian life he took an active interest in veterans' affairs and in the development of aviation. He was appointed by President Herbert Hoover to the Metropolitan Airport Fact Finding Committee in 1926 and was a member of the New York State Aviation Commission, 1929-1935, under Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Funeral Is Private

He is survived by his widow, the former Evelyn Houghton; two sons, Dwight Sullivan of Miami and Roger H. Sullivan of Scarsdale, and four grandchildren.

Two Major Efforts In Woodstock

The Woodstock Town Board announced plans to participate in the Hometown Beautification Program of the New York State Division for Youth during its meeting in the art colony's town hall this week.

According to Supervisor William R. West, the program is a project for young men between the ages of 16 and 21 which attempts to provide them with work to enable them to enter college or continue a chosen vocational training. The state reimburses local government at a rate of $1.25 per hour for each youth employed. Those involved may work 35 hours weekly for a seven-week period.

The Woodstock project will be limited to 10 boys and will begin as soon as possible. A meeting between the Woodstock Town Board and representatives of the State Division for Youth is scheduled this week in an effort to clarify just what projects can be undertaken.

As Supervisor West envisions the program locally, it would be concentrated on work on outdoor recreation projects, including such things as clean-up, painting and planting, among others. He urged any youth who has or can acquire working papers and who would like to be involved in the project to appiy at the Town Hall as soon as possible.

West feels, he said, that this is "a very exciting program, offers wonderful possibilities for both the community and the boys involved, and should prove highly beneficial to both."

In another major move, the board appointed a committee of seven Woodstock residents, all of whom had volunteered their services, to study and review the local zoning ordinance, with an eye to possible changes. The ordinance, passed in Dec. 1965 and considered by many to be the single, most important piece of legislation acted on by the Board in the recent past, has seemingly worked to the advantage of the town since its official inception.

West said today, however, that certain sections of the ordinance need clarification, including the section pertaining to signs, and it has been decided to review the entire ordinance from the perspective of more than a year's use and experience.

The supervisor had high praise and commendation for the seven Woodstockers who volunteered to undertake such a major task. The committee includes Henry Houst Jr., Benjamin Webster, George Benneyan, Phyllis Wittner, Charles Lippincott, Ned Buoymaster and John Nielsen.

Study and review of the ordinance had been expected for some time. West, prior to his election as supervisor had voted for passage of the zoning ordinance while serving as Woodstock councilman. However, at that time, he had said: "I see the need for zoning, but I think that with anything we do in a democratic society, we are never quite satisfied with the way things go. I hope that after we have lived with this ordinance for awhile, we will consider future revisions and simplifications."

Resume Attempt for Release Of Jett in Ellenville Case

Kendall I. Jett, 24-year-old Ellenville man who was committed to jail for one year by Police Justice Ronald Elias last April 20 after entering a plea of guilty to petit larceny, has made another bid for release from jail.

The Jett case received wide publicity after Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D), called disposition of the case by Ellenville Police Justice Elias as an act of "vigilante, frontier-style justice."

Jett was picked up about 1:45 a. m. on April 20 by Ellenville police after he had been observed loitering in front of Eckstein's Cigar Store on Center Street in Ellenville. In his possession were cigarettes and razor blades, which on investigation it is alleged were taken from the cigar store where a window on the parking side of the store was found broken.

Jett was booked for petit larceny and after being arraigned before Justice Elias was given a year in jail. The arrest and sentence, allegedly took about two hours and by approximately 4:30 a. m. he was headed for jail. The speed of the disposition of the case was under criticism and it was charged that Jett, who came from Rhode Island but a short time before where he was known as James Edward Marshall, had been drinking and was given no opportunity to secure counsel.

No appeal was ever taken from the conviction. However, Jett sought before Justice Elias some time after the judgment of conviction, to change his plea from guilty to innocent under a writ of error. Justice Elias denied the motion following a hearing on May 3 and Jett has since been in jail.

The application before Judge Mino was an appeal from Justice Elias's denial for a writ of corum nobis and release from jail pending argument under the writ. County Judge Mino reserved decision and gave counsel for Jett an opportunity to file a memorandum of law.

During the argument counsel for Jett agreed that there had been on appeal from the judgment of conviction filed within the statutory period but argued that he was entitled to appeal from Justice Elias's denial of the writ of error.

Saul H. Altholz of Kerhonkson represented Jett at the hearing in Police Justice's Court when application for the writ of error was made. At the time of his arrest, Jett allegedly did not desire to be represented by counsel and entered a plea of guilty without being represented by counsel.

In court Wednesday connsel asked for a certificate of reasonable doubt and release from jail pending decision of the appeal motion on the writ of corum nobis.

Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonestein appeared in opposition to the motion.

Counsel for Jett argued that Jett had been denied his right to counsel, was intoxicated at the time of arraignment and did not understand what he was doing, that Jett had been intimidated by police and did not willingly and understandingly enter the guilty plea. Release under bail was sought pending determination of the appeal by Judge Mino.

Seven Quakes Rock Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Residents were sweeping up, mopping floors, and repairing broken glass today in the wake of seven earthquakes that rocked this area Wednesday.

It was the worst shaking this inland Alaska city has felt in three decades, but did not approach the devastation caused by the March 1964 earthquake in the Anchorage area.

There were no reports of injuries here Wednesday and no major structural damage.

Seismograph stations in Alaska and Washington State rated the three heaviest shocks at an intensity of 6.7 to 7 on the Richter scale. The 1964 Good Friday tremor measured 8.3, strongest recorded in North America.

Methodists To Hear Priest At Conference

The 168th session of the New York Annual Conference of The Methodist Church, meeting at the University of Bridgeport, Bridgeport, Conn., this week, has instituted three new concepts in church conference programming.

Instead of mass meetings of the delegates for the working out of divisional projects and programs, the Conference has divided itself up into five sections, each of which will report to the complete delegate membership in its turn. Secondly, the Conference is being chaired by a bishop other than the resident bishop for the area. The third innovation is a major address by a prominent Roman Catholic theologian.

At the invitation of resident bishop, Dr. Lloyd C. Wicke, the conference is being presided over by Bishop Frederick Buckley Newell of the Pittsburgh Area.

The Very Rev. William C. McInnes, SJ, president of Fairfield University will deliver a major lecture tonight, marking the first time a Catholic priest and theologian has addressed a Methodist Conference of major proportion in this area.

Ministers and lay delegates from the Kingston area are attending the five-day meeting.

Alexander the Great, Louis XIV and George Washington had common taste for ice cream.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains had a slight edge over losers in the stock market early Thursday, but the industrial average continued to sag due to selective weakness among blue chips.

Changes among leading issues were mostly from fractions to a point.

A feature was heavy buy8ng of low-priced A. J. Industries, which posted a 1-point gain—representing a rise of 20 per cent in the price of this issue.

A. J. Industries reported that its earnings for the first fiscal quarter will be close to the 20 cents a share it earned in all of fiscal 1967.

Other speculative favorites were Glen Alden, up a fraction and International Minerals & Chemicals, up about a point.

Pan American Sulphur lost more than a point in active trading.

Chicago 9 north Western rebounded 3 points from recent sharp losses. IBM added about 1½.

General Motors lost a fraction while Zenith gained a point.

Opening blocks included:

Alcan Aluminum, off ⅜ at 27 on 15,000 shares; El Paso Natural Gas, off ¼ at 18 on 10,900; General Electric, up ⅝ at 86 on 3,300; and Eastman Kodak, off ⅞ at 137½ on 3,000

An air of uncertainty continued in Wall Street while the question remained unresolved of a possible summit meeting between President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Interest Rates Causing Concern

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) Intricate plans of the administration and the Federal Reserve Board to press down interest rates from their record highs of last summer are meeting with some success, lots of frustration and even outright failure.

This mixed picture is therefore causing concern among the nation's public and private money managers who remember with horror how rates got completely out of hand last year and rose to 40-year highs. These rates still are not in check.

Habits Changed

This week some of last summer's highs were topped. Amazing as it may sound, long-term rates have been going opposite to hopes, efforts and forecasts. They are rising.

The simplest explanation is that these forecasts and efforts were based on the assumption that human beings would act and react in predictable ways. They haven't. Borrowing habits changed after last year's experience.

This failure of some federal money policies is illustrated by the whopping 6.10 per cent that a New Jersey utility with a very high credit rating, Public Service Electric & Gas Co., had to pay to borrow $75 million.

This rate is slightly higher than another utility paid at the peak of last year's money crisis. But since then the Federal Reserve has pumped plenty of funds into the market. Why should it be so expensive to borrow?

The answer lies in a change of viewpoint by many businessmen. Having been caught short last year, they are vowing it won't happen again. They are hoarding credit. They are anticipating distant needs. They are borrowing for long terms.

With some of these funds so acquired, the borrowers are doing something just as unusual. They are paying off their low-cost, short-term debts. They are, therefore, choosing a more expensive type of borrowing for the security of knowing they'll have the funds when they need them.

in my opinion. For new investment I suggest Commonwealth Edison, which sells on a 4.4 per cent basis and has one of the best records among the great metropolitan utilities. I would also add International Harvester and Marshall Field, yielding 4.8 and 4.1 per cent respectively.

Q) "At a recent meeting of our investment club, the subject of gold came up. Do you think the price of the metal will be lifted?" R. B.

A) The last rise in the price of gold came in the Thirties. It was put into effect then by the Administration to stimulate the economy and it failed lamentably to do so. The principal beneficiaries of a price rise now would be France — which has been hoarding gold at the expense of dollars — and Russia, which is a major producer. I consider it highly unlikely that Washington will wish to reward either of these countries — for some time to come at any rate.

Two Injured In Crash Near Lake Resort

Two persons were injured at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday as the result of a two-car collision on a road near Williams Lake, Rosendale.

Trooper David Wachtel reported the cars were driven by James Plunket, 51, of 316 Washington Avenue, and Jacob Senor, 54, of 35 Grove Street.

Injured were Plunket, who sustained abrasions, and Nancy Plunket, 13, who received lacerations of the nose and abrasions. Both were treated at Benedictine Hospital.

Troopers Thomas Crowley investigated and reported Plunket was traveling north and Senor was driving in the opposite direction, when Senor swerved to avoid a dog on the road and the cars collided.

Take Lower Income For Greater Growth

Q) "I am 52, married, four children. I have $50,000 insurance, $25,000 of savings, and $15,000 to invest. I own American Telephone, Universal Oil Products, Air Reduction, Kroger, Jersey Standard, and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. I need good income and want growth to protect against inflation. A friend suggested utilities. I would appreciate your suggestions." M.V.

A) I commend you on your fine family and on the steps you have taken to ensure their future. I have one suggestion to make about your present holdings. Kroger, like the other great food chains, is facing rising costs and a very competitive price situation. Growth potential and high yield are generally incompatible, and to achieve your objective you will have to take some sacrifice in income.

I would switch Kroger, yielding 5.9 per cent, into California Packing offering a 4 per cent return and better suited to you.

Brokers believed that investors would feel more confident once Kosygin left the country.

The wrangling in the United Nations over the Israeli-Arab question found no counterbalance in the domestic business outlook, which was regarded as generally trendless and with a positive economic recovery till some months away.

On Wednesday, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .4 to 326.6.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Solitron Devices rose more than 2 points. Up fractionally were Duro-Test, Molybdenum and Nuclear Corp. Slight losses were taken by Felmont Oil, Mead Johnson and Louisiana Land.

4-H Campers Start Season On June 27th

For three weeks beginning on June 27, the 60 acres which make up the Ulster County 4-H Camp will be alive with the activities of the ninth camping season. The camp is situated north of New Paltz and will be temporary home of approximately 180 campers during the three one-week sessions. There are still a few vacancies for campers for the first and third sessions.

The first session of camp this year is for teenagers with special activities and programs planned. Many of the campers will be involved in Junior and Senior Life Saving and also a CIT Program. This program is to train junior and senior counselors for the second and third weeks of camp this year and for future camping seasons. For evening programs there will be many keynote speakers, a panel, and a dance with a live band.

Cabins and tents will provide sleeping space for the campers. The camp facilities also include a crafts pavilion, an infirmary, a 20 by 50 foot swimming pool, and a dining and recreation lodge. There is a large recreation area which is divided among baseball, volly ball, horseshoes, archery, riflery and other outdoor activities.

A conservation class is offered as one of the programs. In previous years, the campers have constructed paths and bridges through the woods. They have labeled the trees along the path, learning something of the camp environment. The conservation program also includes bird watching hikes, the construction of bird houses and terrariums, and instructions in woodland safety. Some campers are also given an opportunity to take an overnight hike.

The senior staff will be assisted by a junior staff all three weeks. These 4-H'ers were selected from applications on the basis of performance, age, and past experience.

Junior staff members include Jane Webster and Don Rattray, Port Ewen; Anna Mary Portz and Ted Ross, Hurley; Jon Abrahamsen, New Paltz; Sally Dolan, Wallkill; and Sandra Groff, West Hurley.

The campers are 4-H members who have reached the age of nine. There are a number of scholarships granted each year by various civic organizations. Scholarships are also awarded to a boy and a girl from each camping session who are voted Honor Campers by the other campers and the staff.

The policy making committee in charge of camp operations is as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Weed, E. R. Bower, Harrison Cornish, Charles DeVoe, William Diedrich, Gordon Davenport, Robert Guzewich, Miss Eleanor Morehouse, William H. Palmer, Carlton M. Conklin, Miss Margaret Gippert, Mrs. McLean F. Reynolds, John Cosh and Mrs. Victor Fox.

Dems Push Through Debt Ceiling Hike

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, reversing a stunning administration setback of two weeks before, pushed through a $22-billion boost in the national debt ceiling.

Sent to the Senate on a 217-196 vote was a measure to raise the debt from a temporary $336 billion to a permanent $358 billion.

The action eased fears the Treasury might face a severe money shortage.

Failure of Congress to reset the debt limit by July 1 would see the ceiling drop to its permanent $285-billion level. The actual debt as of Wednesday was $330.57 billion.

But while the Senate still has to act on the measure — and won't start work until it has disposed of the censure resolution against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. — Democrats hold a comfortable margin in that chamber and are confident of getting speedy approval for the bill.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., of the Senate Finance Committee scheduled hearings on the measure for next Monday and Tuesday. Long said he hopes it can be brought to a floor debate Wednesday.

It had been another story in the House, which stunned President Johnson's administration June 7 by defeating 210 to 197 a bill to increase the borrowing ceiling to $365 billion.

Republicans voted solidly against debt ceiling increases both times, insisting Johnson provide more information on the fiscal outlook and scale down domestic spending.

The GOP's initial victory was possible through the help of Southern Democrats and a sprinkling of Northern Democratic liberals, some of whom claimed their opposition resulted from Johnson's Vietnam war policies.

But the House leadership reclaimed 14 of these votes Wednesday, splitting the dissident Southerners about in half and picking up all but a handful of the antiwar faction.

The White House said later Johnson "congratulated the House leadership for this act of fiscal responsibility."

In addition to the $358-billion ceiling provided by the new measure, a $7-billion cushion goes into effect July 1, 1968. Intended to provide for the fluctuations in income and outgo during the year, the cushion is to be renewed annually. It will expire, however, one day before the end of each fiscal year.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, argued this device would provide a brake on spending.

The bill also would allow the Treasury to issue notes with maturities up to seven years, instead of five. The notes are exempt from the 4¼ per cent interest limitation that has halted the sale of longer-term securities.

It also would include in the national debt for the first time the participation certificates, or interests in pools of government-held loans, sold to private investors. This was a point strongly pushed by Republicans, who accused the administration of using the certificates to hold down the debt.

ROUTE 28
AT NEW YORK STATE THRUWAY
KINGSTON, N. Y.

OPEN DAILY 9:30 A. M. to 9 P. M. — FRIDAY 9:30 A. M. to 10 P. M.

Cases Heard In County Court

A Mississippi man paid a $50 fine in County Court Wednesday after pleading guilty to possession of a firearm without a license. Arthur MacWesterfield, who was passing through New York state from Boston to another job in another state, told County Judge Raymond J. Mino he did not know a license was required in New York State.

The gun was found when State Police stopped Westerfield and asked him if he "had anything." Westerfield said he told them he had a gun in the glove compartment and gave it to the trooper. Sherwood E. Davis appeared for Westerfield, who paid the fine after pleading to the misdemeanor charge.

Richard Michael Thorn, 18, charged with third degree burglary, unlawful entry to a building and petit larceny, sought through his counsel, J. Gellert, to be treated under the Youthful Offender statute. Judge Mino granted the application. Remanded to jail.

On an application for John Walter Williams to be treated under the Youthful Offender statute was made by counsel, Richard Lent and Judge Mino reserved decision. Remanded to jail.

Salvator Anthony Sanicola, charged with third degree burglary, unlawful entry and second degree grand larceny, entered a plea of innocent. The case was marked ready for trial. T. Vasti appeared for defendant.

An adjournment until July 26 at 10 a. m. was taken in the case of Acie Lee Rudd, charged with second degree assault. Joseph Saccoman, assigned cousel, asked for time to make an investigation.

In two cases invloving the shooting of Elmer Strickland, 48, town of Plattekill resident at his home last April, an adjournment was taken until June 28 at 10 a. m. when counsel will be assigned. Robert A. Ronder, who had been assigned as defense counsel to Donald Albert Dunn and Mrs. Lorraine Mae Strickland, at his request was relieved of the assignment. Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonstein consented and Judge Mino will assign new counsel.

Mrs. Strickland said her husband had sought to secure counsel for her but she did not want the attorney her husband had engaged. She said she had no funds to engage counsel and asked for assignment.

Mrs. Strickland, 38, of Town of Plattekill, and Donald Dunn, 34, of 138 Broadway, Newburgh, are charged with the shotgun shooting of Strickland. Strickland was greeted with a shotgun blast as he entered his home one evening in April. As he turned to flee, another shot was fired from the darkness. He was hospitalized in Newburgh as a result of the shooting. Both Mrs. Strickland and Dunn were charged with first degree attempted murder, assault and conspiracy as a felony.

Ivra James Allen appeared for assignment of counsel and Richard Griggs was assigned. Charged with burglary and unlawful entry, the case was adjourned to June 28 at 10 a. m.

William Hasbrouck, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated as a felony, entered a plea of innocent and Elmor Nathan, counsel, was given until June 28 to make motions. Bail continued.

Pleas of innocent were entered by three young men charged with robbery, assault and petit larceny arising out of an incident on May 23 when Milton Cole, owner of Manos' Market on lower Broadway was assaulted and robbed of $48. Alvin Collins, 21, of 47 St. James Street; Frank Landerway, 18, of Cleveland, and Richard Letang, 18, of Kingston were remanded to jail. Cases adjourned to June 28 at 10 a. m. Francis Martocci appears for Collins; Edward Feeney for Landerway and Charles Saccoman for Letang.

The case of Ludella Williams, charged with second degree grand larceny, was adjourned to June 28 at 10 a. m. A plea of innocent was entered. Charles Saccoman asked for time to make motions. Defendant remanded to jail.

Wednesday afternoon a suppression hearing was held in the John Gregory case. Gregory, Ellenville ,is charged with robbery, assault and petit larceny. William C. Mullany appears for defendant. The motion was to suppress a statement taken by police officials. Assistant District Attorney Robert A. MacKinnon appeared in opposition to the motion.

Moulin Rouge Show Returns

The Catskills very own Moulin Rouge burlesque returns to Fallsburgh for its summer season starting July 1. As always top stars of the runway are featured as well as the rubber-faced ribaldry of Bert "You Gotta Eat" Carr.

If the recent past is any indication, this year's Moulin Rouge will be uptempo all the way, easily meriting its designation as "the baudiest show in the Catskills," the theatre announcement observed.

The Moulin Rouge is located on Route 42 in Fallsburgh.

Tri-Mount Has International Staff Members

Camp Tri-Mount, the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scout camp near East Jewett in Greene County, will have an international flavor this summer by virtue of two overseas residents serving on the camp staff.

The two are Koichi Saito, from Niigata, Japan, who will work as a Scoutcraft instructor, and K. V. Cherian, of India, who will serve as Protestant chaplain.

The camp season will run from July 2 to Aug. 20.

Saito, a Scout leader in Japan, has received wood badge training. As a scoutcraft instructor he will be involved in camping, cooking, knife and ax work, knots and lashings and hiking.

Gorges on Insects

Every conceivable kind of insect and spider flees from the approaching horde when a column of army ants is on the move in the South American jungle, but the spotted ant pitta or ant bird makes its appearance at such times and gorges itself on the insects.

Winds of the world are called by many names, such as cyclone, typhoon, monsoon, tornado, sirocco, chinok, cock-eyed bob and willawaw.

He will bring with him recipes of typical Japanese dishes that can be cooked outdoors and also will have articles of interest representative of his homeland and culture.

As Protestant chaplain, Cherian will be responsible for a Sunday worship service, a midweek fellowship hour and counseling.

He comes from a Christian family in Southern India and is a graduate in theology from an Indian school. Presently, Cherian is studying at the Philadelphia College of the Bible. Before coming to the United States to study he was manager of a Christian high school in India and also preached extensively in India.

Radziwill Makes Theatre Debut

By ED DE MOCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's younger sister, made her professional theater debut Tuesday night amid mixed reaction from Chicago theatergoers and reviewers.

The reviewers, for the most part, thought she was beautiful and wore her expensive clothes well, but that she was not yet an actress on the basis of her lead role as Tracy Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

The audience of first-nighters applauded mightily, but drew only one encore from the princess who is using her maiden name, Lee Bouvier.

After the play before an audience of some 650 persons in the Ivanhoe Theater, an in-the-round playhouse in Chicago's North Side, Miss Bouvier, the wife of a former Polish nobleman, Prince Stanislaw Radziwill, told newsmen that she had been "a little nervous" in her first professional appearance.

She said, "I enjoyed it immensely" and felt that "the play possibly could have been smoother tonight if we'd had a few more rehearsals."

She said that she has had a "long-time interest in the theater" and that she may continue to act on a part-time basis.

Her leading man, John Ericson of Hollywood and Broadway, whom she personally selected for the role of C.K. Dexter Haven, told newsmen he felt that Miss Bouvier "did a momentous job."

He said that he feels that Miss Bouvier "is an actress and wants to do a good job." He added that "time will tell" whether she will stay in the theater.

Miss Bouvier, 34, the mother of two children, had prepared two years in London drama schools for her Chicago appearance. She said she had been asked to play the role and accepted and "that's why I came to Chicago."

ALWAYS A CHAMPION

I had occasion to chat with a gal Tuesday afternoon who was born in Spain while an exiled Empress attended her mother as midwife, who lived in most of the Latin countries, spoke Spanish before she spoke English, and has held numerous championships in swimming and tennis.

She is—Eugenia Lincoln Falkenburg but Americans know her as "Jinx."

Jinx Falkenburg was in town to visit with her former radio and TV co-worker Mary Margaret McBride.

Also visiting the area at the same time were Cynthia Lowry, TV and Hollywood columnist for Associated Press and John Sims (Shipwreck) Kelly, All American football star of the '30's.

Jinx has not lost any of the glow which brought her fame as the first "Miss Rheingold" and one of the "Goldwyn Girls." She is as vivacious as ever and just as interesting.

Jinx and her husband Tex McCrary were by-words in American homes at the time of their radio and later TV programs. They also wrote a column for the Herald-Tribune but Jinx admits Tex did all the writing — she only added the "postscripts."

She and Tex started on NBC radio in 1946 and Jinx was taught how to "deliver" commercials by none other than Mary Margaret.

Jinx is very honest about her achievements and very humorous. She likes to tell the story of the "Miss Rheingold" title. It seems that Paul Hesse, one of the top photographers in the country, had spotted Jinx on the tennis courts one day, asked her to pose, took several shots, then declared: "You are now a model."

JINX FALKENBURG

Hesse submitted 10 photos of her to the Rheingold executives who were looking for a new promotional angle, and she was unanimously selected the first "Miss Rheingold."

"You see, there weren't any contests at that time so I won hands down," Jinx said with a big grin.

She started her film career at the age of 16 as a Goldwyn Girl.

"That was a series of mishaps also," Jinx admits. "The one time I was to appear on film the California Board of Education pulled me out of the scene because I had not had my required three hours of study that day. So I never did make that film. It was STRIKE ME PINK starring Eddie Cantor."

Despite statements made about her rapid rise to fame, Jinx had many setbacks. The first time she was scheduled for a screen test the make-up men decided to "do her over."

"They made me up like Harpo Marx — blonde curls and all — and I was so upset I did the scene in tears," Jinx said. "A year later I had better luck and Sam Goldwyn signed me up with a seven year contract. But that had pitfalls also. The contract had an option clause renewable every six months so I had the first seven year contract that lasted six months." Jinx did benefit from a fast and furious publicity build-up and during that six months she made the big salary of $75 per week.

Very candid about her education, she says she received her high school diploma at the age of 16 in the office of the California Board of Education. "I'm not educated, you know. Tex has the education — he went to Yale."

Jinx went to several schools abroad, because the family traveled all over the world with her father who was a hydro-electrical engineer for Westinghouse.

She is described by her close friend Mary Margaret as "naive" and I suppose she is when you hear stories like the time she traded a diamond cross Al Jolson had given her for some beautiful costume jewelry. "I just didn't realize the value of the cross at the time," Jinx explains.

She also likes to do things on the spur of the moment. She had her famous long hair cut the other day because she had to wait for her car. So THE FREEMAN is the first newspaper to carry a photo of the "new" Jinx.

Jinx keeps busy these days doing promotional work for the Gas Association, a trade organization. She does a lot of traveling for them and is seen on TV occasionally. She admits to 48 years of age and says her mother "Mickey," who is 20 years her senior, still plays tennis every day, can do 50 paintings in a day and is always involved in some project.

Dunham Collection Library Fair Feature

Several thousand books from the collection of the late August Dunham will be featured at the Stone Ridge Library Fair, Saturday, June 24. Mr. Dunham, who for many years before his death served as book chairman for the Library Fair, was a well known book dealer in the area. The book committee, headed by Dr. Othman Abu-Gheida, has been busy for several weeks sorting these and other books donated for the sale.

Because of the unusually large number of books offered this year, the committee is sorting the books into categories.

Anyone wishing to donate books to the fair may leave them at the Stone Ridge Library. The fair will open at 10, Saturday, June 24.

FRANKLIN ALEXANDER is this year's winner of the Coughtry Memorial Prize at the 32nd Regional Exhibition of Artists of the Upper Hudson. This is the third prize Alexander has won in the last two major exhibitions in this area. The award, together with a letter of congratulations, was sent to the Woodstock artist by Norman S. Rice, director of the Albany Institute of History and Art. The prize-winning painting will be exhibited in one of the Woodstock galleries later in the summer.

Summer Stock Returns: Woodstock

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Woman's Page Editor

Murray Schisgal's comedy LUV, which ran for two successful and merry years on Broadway, opened Saturday night at the Woodstock Playhouse and will play through this Sunday.

It is an absurd play which received rave notices from leading critics including the established Walter Kerr. Its satire feeds upon life's woes and anguishes and it takes the talents and hard work of its three member cast to keep it moving.

The play has merit — it can boast three outstanding performers, Jane Lloyd Jones, William Metzo and William Ade.

We offer bouquets to Jones who stepped in at a very late date to replace the ailing Charlotte Glenn. Miss Jones (the wife of Heywood Hale Broun, sports essayist for CBS News) is not a stranger to Woodstock Playhouse. She has played approximately 30 - 40 roles there and this year marks her first appearance in four years. She is an actress you enjoy watching.

Stellar performances are given also by William Metzo, whom Woodstock audiences will remember for his excellent parts in THE BOY FRIEND and WEST SIDE STORY, and William Ade, who returns to Woodstock for his fourth season.

In poking fun at life's disasters, the author does pull off some very funny situations. The second act far outshines the first. It touches on the slapstick side with Metzo doing a superb gymnastics bit.

Staging takes place near a bridge (we assume it's the Brooklyn Bridge), the jumping off point for the desolate and downtrodden. Instead of writing it as a tragedy, Schisgal turns his thoughts inside out and squeezes through a comedy.

Action runs the gamut of childhood wants and neglects ("I never had a birthday party!) to no business success or too much success, to love or lack of it.

The characters try to: hang themselves, jump off the bridge, kill each other, conspire to murder.

The play is under the able direction of Harold Baldridge with excellent scenery and lighting by David F. Siegal.

William Metzo's performance leaves little doubt that his acting experience ranges from Shakespeare to modern drama. He is very talented.

He toured from coast to coast in Macbeth with the National Shakespeare Company for two years and comes to the Woodstock Playhouse from a season with the Catskill Mountain Shakespeare Festival. His repertory work includes seasons with the Kennebunkport Playhouse in Maine and the Lakewood Theatre in Barnesville, Pa., and four years in Reading, Pa.

Metzo received his training at Kings College and the Stella Adler Theatre Studio in New York. In the 1966 season at the Woodstock Playhouse, Metzo gave a memorable performance as the Old Man in the Fantasticks.

William B. Ade, a graduate of the Neighborhood Playhouse, who also studied at the famous Actors Studio, has TV credits as well as experience on and off Broadway. He was Ensign Pulver in Mr. Roberts off-Broadway and appeared with Zero Mostel in Rhinoceros on Broadway. He has worked with the Kiamesha Playhouse in Bus Stop and The Diary of Anne Frank.

Luv — the author's answer to all problems — should be seen since it is considered one of our leading plays and its actors are tops.

First nighters were guests at a champagne punch reception during intermission. The reception "launched" the new summer season.

I'm looking forward to the next Woodstock playhouse production. On Tuesday, June 27, Edgar Rosenblum will present one of the funniest comedies Barefoot In The Park. It will be on stage through July 3.

Its author is Neil Simon who was responsible also for The Odd Couple and The Star Spangled Girl. Mr. Simon has the magic know-how of getting people to laugh. It should be a delight.

BRIDE DECIDES ON SIZE OF WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently a little friend of mine, who is being married next month, came to me almost in tears. The young lady is an orphan who lives with her elderly grandparents. The boy she is marrying comes from a large, fairly well-to-do family. Because of this, a large wedding and reception is expected. She was informed of this by the bridegroom's mother, who also told her all expenses would be up to the bride as she was "going strictly according to the Bride's Book of Etiquette." Does all this seem quite fair or in the best of taste to you?—Mrs. R. B.

Dear Mrs. R. B.: I don't know what book of etiquette that lady read, but according to my book it's about time that parents of prospective bridegrooms accept two basic truths. First, they have no business telling the bride or her family what size or type of wedding reception there should be. This is the bride's responsibility and prerogative. If she can afford a big wedding, that's fine, but if not, she should not be expected to go into debt for one.

Second, there is no reason that a small, beautifully planned wedding cannot be just as lovely as an extravaganza. In fact, the intimacy and friendliness of the smaller affair is often far more impressive and memorable than the elegance of the large one which advertises: "No expense spared!"

Greeting Card for Daughters-in-Law

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a prolific user of greeting cards, because after careful selection I invariably find one that expresses my sentiments so much better than I can. I have a dear daughter and also a daughter-in-law I love as much. Would it be proper to send the latter a card addressed to "Dear Daughter," even though she has very devoted parents?—Rose Sands

Dear Mrs. Sands: Much as you love your daughter-in-law, the right to call her "daughter" belongs to her parents. Lovely cards are made for daughters-in-law. Try to find one appropriate for her.

Wedding Invitations for a Girl and Her Fiance

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is being married and the problem has come up as to how to address the invitation to a girl and her fiance. Just recently, my daughter received an invitation to a wedding and her fiance received his own at his home address. My daughter became very upset. She said the invitation should have been addressed Miss . . . and Fiance. Please settle this. Mrs. J. Z.

Dear Mrs. J. S.: The sender of the invitations to the other wedding was right. When the name and address of a girl's fiance is known to the hostess, she sends him a separate invitation. Only if she does not have that information should she include his invitation with that of his fiance.

The Doctor Says

OBSERVE CUSTOMS IN WARM CLIMATES TO FIGHT HEAT

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

With the approach of hot weather what can you do to avoid its discomforts?

First, you can take a tip from those who live in the tropics the year-round. Let your clothing be light both in color and weight. The Arab, who can find little shelter from the blistering sun, wears loose clothing that covers most of body and protects him from sunburn.

The Chinese coolie wears short trousers, keeps his shirt tails outside his trousers and wears no constricting necktie. This allows a freer circulation of air for his chest and upper abdomen. The African who lives in the steaming tropical forest wears next to nothing. You cant' very well imitate this jungle dweller except at the beach but you can make it a practice to discard most of your clothes on hot days when you are at home.

Early in the season when the nights are still cool you should close the windows in the morning and pull down the shades to trap the cool air inside. Remember that your comfort depends not only on the temperature of the air but also on the degree of air current in the room and the humidity.

When it's hot you don't need quite as many calories as you do in the winter but your muscles, bones and nerve cells need just as much nourishment as ever. Many persons blame the heat for their feeling of peplessness in the summer when the real reason is their failure to get enough protein in their diet.

The temptation to fill up on iced drinks should be resisted. You need to drink more fluids to replace what you lose through perspiration but the temperature of the fluids is not as important as the quantity. Too much ice water can upset your digestive tract. Since you lose salt in your perspiration you should increase your salt intake slightly in summer but, if you are on a salt-poor diet, don't modify it without first checking with your doctor.

Exercise in moderation will benefit you in many ways. Since often, when you are engaged in a strenuous sport such as tennis, you will not notice the heat until you stop, you should quit before you become exhausted. The best summer sport is swimming but, whatever activity you choose, you should take frequent short rests rather than a few longer ones.

Quit Job If Boss 'Loves' You

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed as a secretary by the same man for nine years. I was only 21 when I came to work here, and I was green as grass.

My boss is in his late 50s and his wife is about his age. They have children and grandchildren, and he is an important man in this community.

Over the years I noticed that he took an interest in women. He took them to lunch, cocktails, dinner, and bought some of them gifts. I figured this was none of my business.

He used to compliment me on my hair, clothes, etc., but I paid no attention.

I recently announced my engagement and told him I wanted a month off for my honeymoon, but would return to work for a while after that. He then asked if he could "kiss the bride," so I told him he could, at my wedding. Then he broke down and started to cry like a baby, telling me he had been "in love" with me all these years. He said he and his wife hadn't lived as man and wife for 20 years, blah, blah . . ." I was stunned.

Then he got over it real quick and said he was only "kidding." (Kidding? With real tears?)

Now I ask you, should I quit my job for good when I marry? Or should I come back and pretend all this never happened? It's a good job and he needs me.

IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: When you quit, stay away. He may need you, but you need him like a kangaroo needs a brief case.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a very high-class man I have been dating for over a year. Cal gave me a nice pearl engagement ring which he had sized for my little finger. I never knew an engagement ring could be worn on the little finger. He doesn't want me to tell anyone we are engaged as he doesn't want it to get to his mother. Here's the background:

I have been married, divorced, and have a child, and Cal hasn't told his mother about that yet. I've met his mother a few times and she seems to like me okay, but she thinks I'm just another one of Cal's girlfriends.

I told Cal if he didn't tell his mother about me and the baby I was going to tell her. He keeps saying he will in time. How long should I wait? I am 26 and Cal is 33. I've had this ring since last December and I want to make some plans.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Set a "deadline" (one week) and if Cal doesn't tell his mother about you, consider your engagement dead.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Our son is a professional photographer and one of the best in town. He snaps everything and everybody but his own mother and father.

From the time he was a small boy he was interested in photography as a hobby so his Dad and I always saw to it that he had the best equipment.

Now that he is a professional with a fine studio you would think he would offer to take our pictures, but he never has. Even at family gatherings when he's busy taking candid shots, if we don't stick our faces in a couple of pictures we'd be left out entirely.

We are average looking people and wouldn't break his camera. It would be nice to have some good studio pictures of ourselves before we get old and gray. We haven't had a decent picture taken in 15 years!

What do you suppose is the matter with him? Any suggestions?

ASHAMED

• • • •

DEAR ASHAMED: He's thoughtless. Call his studio and ask for an "appointment".

Why We Say--

. . . Formerly Persia

This country was mistakenly named Persia by the early Greeks who had some early dealings with one province which bore the name Persia. After many centuries of being misnamed Persia, the country changed its name back to Iran in 1935.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Stefano Heads Library; Bequest Down by $8,000

John Stefano, Woodstock resident and vice-principal of Onteora High School, was elected president for the coming year by Woodstock Library members at the Library's annual meeting recently. Serving with him will be Carolyn Wilson as vice-president, Ronald Csonka as secretary, and Kenneth Osterhoudt as treasurer. The latter two also became new members of the Board of Trustees.

In concluding her annual report as outgoing president, Anita Goldberg stressed the vital role of the Library Fair, especially this year, in the Library's financial plans. The new Library construction will cost at least $60,000 — the amount originally expected by the Library from the Marsh estate. However, the administrator of the estate miscalculated in arriving at that figure, she said. The total amount to be received from the Marsh estate has now been set at $51,647—over $8,000 less than anticipated. To help make up this deficit, the Library Fair, to be held July 27, must be the most financially successful Fair in Woodstock's history.

Mrs. Goldberg also noted that future maintenance costs of the expanded facilities cannot be paid from the Marsh or Ives bequests. These new costs must instead be paid from Library Fair profits—in addition to the normal maintenance and operating expenses of the past, the costs of which rise annually.

Adele Longendyke, Fair chairman, reports that committee staffing is proceeding satisfactorily. She stressed that, "Good, clean clothes are still in great demand for the Fair, but we will not accept rags." She also noted that, "We hope fair-goers this year, will dress in 'old-fashioned' costumes—it would add so much to the Fair's atmosphere." She reiterated that the Collection Center, behind the Library on Tinker Street, will be open every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday until Fair Week from 10 a. m. to 12 noon, and 2 to 4:30 p. m. The Center may be called by phone should donors wish to have their contributions picked up by Fair volunteer workers.

Overlook Honors Seven Graduates

Overlook Methodist Church accorded special recognition to seven graduates of Onteora Central and Kingston High Schools at services June 18, when the Rev. James Cook's sermon topic was "On Being A Graduate." Gifts were presented by William Fisher, chairman of the Educational Commission, to the following: Cynthia Schreiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Egon Schreiner; Jeanne Breitenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Breitenstein; Sharon Haner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haner; Sharon Kintner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kintner; Lewis Arlt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Arlt; Roger Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones; and Kirk Lippincott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lippincott.

Lewis Arlt was also honored with a gift from Mr. and Mrs. David Sullivan for his service as president of the Lutheran and Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Three children received the Sacrament of Baptism: Michael Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Boyle; Wendy Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald West; and Tami Kimm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wood.

Members and friends of the congregation are asked to mark the date of Saturday, August 26, on their calendars for a special occasion, with details to be announced later.

Registrations for Vacation Church School will be mailed by Mrs. L. Churchill to those families who have not registered as yet.

On June 25 at 10 a. m., the Rev. James W. Cook will preach on "Living Among the Tombs." A nursery for infants and young children will be provided.

Chest's Drive Set to Begin September 16

The Executive Committee of the Woodstock-West Hurley Advisory Committee of Ulster County Community Chest met this past week to discuss a quota for its fund drive to be submitted to the Board of Directors of the Community Chest.

Separate fund drives conducted by the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cerebral Palsy, Red Cross, Salvation Army and Mental Health Association will be combined into one Community Chest drive which will also benefit the remainder of the 13 agencies which serve Woodstock-West Hurley residents.

This drive will be conducted from Sept. 16 to Oct. 21, with an advance gifts solicitation in the business community starting Aug. 21.

Workers who have been active in previous years in any one of the local drives are asked to volunteer their services by contacting Mrs. Marlon Hutchinson, Fund Drive chairman, especially those persons who will be away for the summer. There will be a general meeting of the advisory committee on Thursday, June 29, a 8 p. m. at the Rotron Conference Room, which all interested citizens are invited to attend with suggestions and support.

Recital Monday

The piano pupils of Bearsville teacher, Mrs. Lois B. Jeffrey, will present their annual recital in Woodstock at the Kleinert Gallery, Tinker Street, on Monday, June 26 at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend the program.

Pupils who will participate include:

Kathy Schonger, Geoffrey Brooks, Toni Lyn Pavlovich, William Peekema, Lynn Bailey, Gary Reynolds, Alison Keeley, Joanne Dargan, Michael Reynolds, Diane Richell, Ronald Deak, Jeanne Latoff, Brenda Richell, Brooks Henry, Jill Miller, Julie Harder and Joanne Brudniak.

Scouts Enjoyed Trips to Wendy

Among events planned and carried out by Woodstock-West Hurley Girl Scouts are the annual day trips to Camp Wendy in Wallkill. These trips provide the majority of the 250 Girl Scouts in the local area with an opportunity to become acquainted with facilities of the camp which is maintained for resident and troop camping by Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts.

On a recent weekend, Junior Troops 176, Mrs. John Frangello, leader, and 141, Mrs. Paul Fusaro, leader, arrived at camp on Friday evening, and on Saturday were joined by Troops 79, Mrs. Goodrich, 96, Mrs. Logan, 90, Mrs. Olsen, and 84, Mrs. Zoehfeld. Seven Senior Scouts from Troop 172 led morning demonstrations if fire-building and tent-pitching, and later taught knots and lashing. Interspersed in the day's activities were an opening flag ceremony and Scouts' Own by Troop 141, compass reading, games, singing and lunch.

Two weeks later it was the Brownies' turn. Awaiting them at Camp Wendy as the bus arrived were 18 members of Cadette Troop 173, led by Mrs. Charles Orr and Mrs. Donald Rice. Following a flag ceremony, a wide game kept all groups active with games involving first aid, trail signs, simple knots, and relays. A picnic lunch was enjoyed by the lake followed by group singing. The afternoon program consisted of a nature scavenger hunt stressing conservation, games, a snack, and a closing circle. As the bus started for home, it was full of tired but happy Brownies, many of whom had found a new friend in a Cadette Girl Scout.

For the Cadettes, troop camping continued into the next day with an opportunity for swimming and canoeing under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hill as well as supper and Sunday breakfast cooked over a campfire.

Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is a member agency of Ulster County Community Chest which is coming this year to the Woodstock-West Hurley area.

Three Students Awarded Prizes On Area History

At the Academic Awards Assembly of Onteora Junior High School, the Historical Society of Woodstock made its first annual awards for papers on local history written by members of the school's seventh grade. First prize was a U.S. Savings Bond; second and third prizes were 10 and five dollars respectively.

First prize went to Matthew Leaycraft for his paper, "Lewis Hollow," which used published works and personal interviews to reconstruct the history and life of one of Woodstock's oldest communities in Lewis Hollow, on the side of Overlook Mountain. Second prize was won by Miss Dixie Denman, whose paper, "Early Schols of Olive," gave a well-written account of schools in the Town of Olive before the Ashokan Reservoir was built. John Kahil took third prize, writing on "The Esopus Indians," going into some detail on who the Indians were, how they lived and their relations with the white men.

Because of the excellence of the papers done by these young scholars, the following students were awarded Honorable Mention: Patricia Adels, Michail Breakell, Rolland Cummins, Neal Duffy, Beth Fisher, Martin Hammens, Brenda, Howland, Barbara Jones, Sonja Klaessig, Susan Lane, Margaret Langling, Caryl Latoff, Renee Maier, Sandra Malek, Marianne Rafaldi, J. Sparks, Kimberly Thayer and Suzanne Tyler.

Leaycraft Presents

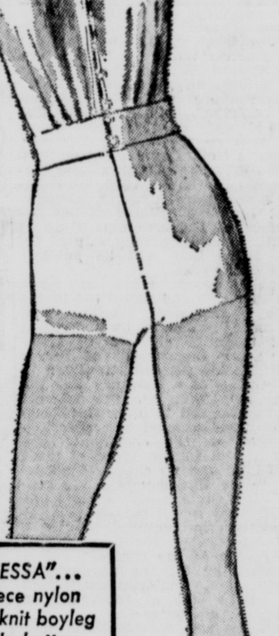

These awards were presented on behalf of the Historical Society by Society president, Edgar C. Leaycraft, who expressed hope that interest and enthusiasm generated on the part of students participating in this contest would carry over into a continuing interest in local history, and the social sciences in general.

The Society thanked John Remensynder, president of Ulster County Historical Society, and Dr. George Sullivan, superintendent of Onteora Schools, for their help in judging these papers. The sheer quantity, as well as the high quality made their jobs most difficult.

The first meeting of the Historical Society of Woodstock scheduled for June 27 in its new building at 6 Rock City Road, Woodstock, at 8 p. m. will be a presentation of the prize winning papers, and perhaps several others of special interest. All those who participated in this contest, or were interviewed, are invited to attend this open meeting and learn about the area and to discover for themselves what these young students have been able to accomplish.

Motion Picture Code Reflects Taste of Public

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With state and local censorship virtually wiped out by court rulings, responsibility for determining the taste of movie entertainment in the United States rests largely in one man.

He is Liverpool-born Geoffrey Shurlock, 72, who administers the production code for the Motion Picture Association. Between 90 and 95 per cent of the movies seen in American theaters pass through his office. There they are measured for compliance with the industry's self-censorship code.

Shurlock, a brisk, smallish man, insists that "I'm just a paid employee, trying to apply the code which the producers have created."

Yet his power is undeniable. Rarely are his decisions disputed or appealed.

With films turning more and more to realism in language and treatment of sex, Shurlock finds his office under continuing fire from industry and public critics.

"I think we are doing a good job of reflecting the taste of the American public," he says. "After all, the people are the final judges. They will generally accept what is reasonable and reject what is in bad taste. We watch very closely the reaction of the public to what appears on the screens.

"After all, what other good judgment is there except the general good sense of the public?"

Shurlock points proudly to the fact that the United States is the only country "in which censoring is entirely in the hands of those who make the films."

"In all other countries censorship is done to a greater or lesser degree by the government," he said. "Only England comes close to our system, but the government has some control because it subsidizes the film industry. Ours is the only unsubsidized film industry in the world."

Hollywood's self-censorship stemmed from scandals in the 1920s, when moralists assailed the industry and threatened to create censor boards in every state and city. A strict code of morality was created and enforced. Only last year was the code reduced to basic, generalized statements.

That was something Shurlock had been advocating for years. He also had advocated a classification system for age groups, as is done in most other countries. In the past year 14 movies have been passed by the code administration with the label, "suggested for mature audiences."

Shurlock operates in the Producers Association office in the Rexall Drug Building at Beverly and LaCienega Boulevards. Before shooting begins, producers submit two copies of their scripts. They are read by two of Shurlock's six-man staff.

Every morning at 10 the seven industry censors meet to discuss scripts. Letters are sent to the producers with possible suggestions that there might be too much sex or brutality in certain scenes. Each letter carries the notice: "You understand our final opinion must be based on the completed picture."

Shurlock and his assistants are available for consultations with producers over troublesome scenes. Often questionable material will be filmed with the hope that the director's sense of taste will make the material acceptable.

Fur can fly when the final film is presented for approval. Sometimes producers refuse to make suggested cuts. Then they can appeal to the directors of the Producers Association, joined by six theater operators and four independent producers. That is the court of last resort.

One Delegate's Viewpoint

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION REPORT
by
S. James Matthews

A Constitutional Convention Report

By S. JAMES MATTHEWS

In 1962 our state constitution was amended by the inclusion of a new Judiciary Article. The number of words dealing with the subject exceeds the total verbage of the United States Constitution.

It is perhaps surprising that after having been so recently revised ,that a great deal of thought and effort of the Convention now taking place in Albany, is concerned with a new system of courts. Bar associations, civic groups and members of the judiciary are all expressing themselves on the subject. There are many divergent points of view.

I am in favor of combining the Surrogate's Court, the Court of Claims, Family Court and County Court, with the Supreme Court, into one court of original jurisdiction in New York. It is very difficult to justify in these separate courts, the various discrepancies in salary, tenure, staff, retirement benefits, age at which one may no longer serve, and prestige of the Judges.

I can see no distinction in ability required, nor is it possible to determine a scale of relative importance of any of these tribunals, whether on a monetary basis, rights involved, or any other reasonable criteria. All are of equal importance in the eyes of the litigants, the mind of the attorney, and to the public at large.

Each jurist is susceptible to being assigned by the Administrative Justice or the Appellate Division to sit in Courts, other than that for which they had been originally selected. This fact sufficiently answers those who use experience in a given field as a reason for continuation of the separate courts.

I know of no criticism of any judge who has held court in a tribunal in other than his own field, while specially assigned. If expertise is a cogent reason for maintaining the various courts intact, then to be philosophically consistent, the Constitution should prohibit this free interchange of judges. No such measure has been introduced at the Convention.

If the argument for the expert is still compelling, it appears at best to be a mechanical problem of assigning the talent available to the proper term of Court. Certainly this difficulty is not sufficient reason for delaying what must ultimately be contained in our Constitution.

While having no quarrel with Supreme Court Justices, in fact I am personally quite fond of many, I do find their behavior in this regard quite human and to be expected. It does appear that most disapprove of tripling their numbers.

They are a rather unique, limited class who do enjoy tremendous acclaim within the legal profession and in the community as a whole. It is natural for them not to want to dilute this. Metropolitan county surrogates have equally compelling reasons for maintaining the status quo.

With a statewide system of financing our Courts now almost a certainty, it seems appropriate to look beyond the personalities and the traditions of the day. If the delegates were to consider these factors, not only in deliberations over the judiciary, but in all the many other subjects they are considering, then our task would be merely pro forma.

Reform will come, and I believe it should be now. While the Bar may not be ready for it, the public, in my opinion, is.

The deadline for the personal introduction of propositions has come and gone. The Convention committees are hard at work digesting the various measures and attempting to forge a meaningful Article in the field of their responsibility.

Now that school is over for the summer and people will be taking their vacations, I again renew an invitation to come to Albany on any Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning and witness a session of the Convention. It is history in the making.

Hudson Pipeline Is Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission has authorized the Algonquin Gas Transmission Co. to install a 30-inch pipeline under the Hudson River from Stony Point to Buchanan, N.Y.

The federal agency gave its approval Wednesday for the $2-million project.

The company said the new line would expedite the flow of natural gas to its New England customers.

CHANNEL CHATTER

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The sword went in half way, but the bull refused to die.

Blood streaming down his lance-fringed shoulders, he charged not his tormentors but the matador's cape. Knifed anew, four minutes after the initial thrust, the beast fell dead — to oles mingled with boos for the botched butchery.

So went the last of four kills Saturday night on local station KHJ-TV's p.m. bullfights filmed in Tijuana and Mexico city — a show that has brought both hisses and bravos.

With the first telecast, a week earlier, KHJ asked viewer comment. Letters included:

"My husband and I were thoroughly shocked. Those fellows take turns torturing an animal."

"I turned off the television, absolutely sickened."

"Dear sadist: Keep it off TV on a night that most children are up watching."

Some approved: "I thought the program was great." "Thank goodness someone has the courage to put this marvelous national sport on a major channel."

"We are grandparents in our mid-fifties, but aficionados nonetheless. Your program is a dream come true."

The station says mail from the first program was 3.1 per cent in favor and 16.9 per cent against continuance.

Then, it says, a local of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals newsletter to members protesting "death in the living room" and "dramatic exhibitions of ttrture," brought almost solid opposition in the second week's mail. The cumulative percentages fell to 58 for, 42 against.

Mal Klein, KHJ-TV general manager, says bullfights are shown on about 20 U.S. stations, mostly UHF, and, "We're airing them on an experimental basis. Our community has a strong Latin heritage and that heritage includes bullfighting."

The American Humane Association, through its president, has "most vehemently" protested the telecasts to the Federal Communications Commission. It callee "this activity unlawful in every state" and a "violation of the broadcast industry's own television code."

Will KHJ-TV continue the program? Says Klein: "I don't know."

Girl, 14, Hit By Truck, Dies

NEWFANE, N.Y. (AP) — Katharine Smith, 14, of Newfane, was struck and killed by a truck Wednesday as she crossed Route 78 in this community north of Lockport.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Borden J. Smith.

Niagara County sheriff's deputies said the schoolgirl had disembarked from a bus and was en route to a church to help with a festival there.

The Smith's address is 6171 Howell Ave.

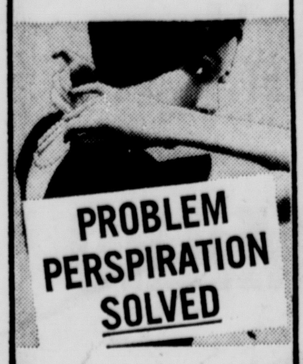

Station Sold

WESTBROOK, Maine (AP)— The Green Group, with headquarters in Sayre, Pa., has sold its radio station here to Charles Steadman Jr. for a price reported to be $160,000.

The sale of station WJAB will not become effective, however, until approval of the Federal Communications Commission is received.

The Green Group also owns radio properties in Plesantville and Elmira, N.Y., and Atlantic City, N.J.

PROBLEM PERSPIRATION SOLVED

even for thousands who perspire heavily

A new-type formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily. After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible—with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 54-year-old laboratory. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course. If you perspire more than average — even heavily — get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Your choice, liquid or cream. Ninety-day supply, each $3.00.

BERRY'S WORLD

"CONGRATULATIONS, Mr. Nugent——————it's a DEMOCRAT!"

Suggests Free College For Eligible Students

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — President Anthony J. Travia will ask the Constitutional Convention to commit itself to providing a free college education for New York residents, it was learned today.

Under Travia's concept, any high school graduate with sufficient scholastic ability would be entitled to a four-year college education without charge — just as children now are entitled to 12 years of free public schooling.

If the proposal eventually becomes part of the State Constitution, this would mean that all tuition charges would be removed from the State University system.

It also would guarantee continuance of the tuition-free policy of the City University of New York.

Sources close to Travia, the top-ranking leader in the Democratic - controlled convention, said he had prepared a major policy statement on the subject and would issue it later today.

The Travia proposal is likely to draw opposition from the convention's Republican minority, since the GOP has been committed for several years to a different viewpoint on higher education.

Gov. Rockefeller, with support from Republicans in the Legislature, has provided more financial aid for college students but has insisted that those who have the means to pay for their education should do so.

Travia would make free college educations available without regard to financial means — as a matter of right.

The prospect thus is for a revival of the GOP - Democratic fight that raged in 1963 when, at Rockefeller's behest, tuition charges were imposed throughout the State University system for the first time.

Rockefeller has been using the money to help finance a vast expansion of university facilities. He also has urged the City University to follow the same course.

During the 1963 hassle, Democrats were in the minority in the Legislature and were powerless to block the Republican program.

This time they have a comfortable majority in the convention and could put Travia's proposal across. Several Democratic delegates already have introduced similar propositions of their own.

Travia will say in his policy statement that 12 years of public schooling no longer are sufficient to help young people make their way amidst the complexities and technology of modern life. He will say the state can and must afford to do more for them.

In urging the delegates to support his proposal, he will say that it could be the most important contribution they will make to the new Constitution.

Should the convention follow its president's lead, the free-college proposal still would be subject to approval of New York voters — as will all of the convention's recommendations.

Travia aides reason, however, that the electorate would not be likely to spurn free education — regardless of any Republican urgings — especially at a time when college costs are soaring.

Scheffel Raps Homer, Triple

Bill Stokes of Subway Grill shut out Gordon's Bar, 11-0, on four hits, as the Subways evened their record at 3-3, Wednesday in the City Softball League. Gordon's are in the cellar with a 1-6 record.

Ron Scheffel's three-run homer featured a seven-run assault on Gordon's Frank Allen. He also stroked a triple and knocked in four runs.

After taking a 7-0 lead in the first innings, Subways added two more in the second on Joe Hoffman's double, a triple by Scheffel and sacrifice fly by Eric Blackwell.

Subways closed out their scoring with a pair in the sixth. Floyd Stokes singled home Jim Ferraro, who was safe on a two base error. George Fisher sent Stokes across with a single.

Orr collected a single and a walk in the first inning rally. Ron Ferraro walked, there were two errors and Scheffel's homer.

BATTING — Bob Uecker, Braves, belted a grand slam home run and doubled in another run as Atlanta crushed San Francisco 9-2.

BASEBRAWL: Members of the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox engage in second inning melee at New York's Yankee Stadium last night. The brawl started after Yankee pitcher Thad Tillotson was hit by a pitch from Red Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg. The Red Sox won the game, 8 to 1. (AP Wirephoto).

Friendly Jim Lonborg Just Isn't Anymore...

★ ★ ★ ★

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Lonborg, once a friendly, smiling giant, has forsaken his winning ways for a winning fast ball that rises high and tight and now has hitters ducking him like he had bad breath.

The Boston Red Sox new mean man of the mound blew his latest innovation by New York for an 8-1 victory Wednesday night, but the Yankees did not go down without a fight.

Lonborg's lively fast ball and one thrown by the Yankees' Thad Tillotson that wasn't so lively started a brush back, bean ball contest that emptied both benches in a second inning free-for-all.

Tillotson hit Joe Foy on the helmet with a pitch in the top half of the inning, then one of Lonborg's high hard ones struck Tillotson in the shoulder. Words were exchanged between the two pitchers, then between Tillotson and Foy, the benches emptied, a wild melee began and it took 12 special policemen to restore order.

Elsewhere in the league, the leading Chicago White Sox quietly swept a doubleheader from Washington 5-2 and 2-1 on the hitting of Tom McCraw and Gerry McNertney, and reliever Eddie Watt saved Baltimore's 5-4 triumph over Kansas City.

Detroit and Minnesota played to a 5-5 tie in a game halted in the ninth inning by rain and Cleveland and California were rained out before they started.

No players were ejected in the brawl at Yankee Stadium, the second there in recent weeks, but Joe Pepitone of the Yankees was decked by one punch and had to leave the game with a sprained wrist.

In the next inning, Tillotson hit Lonborg and Lonborg later brushed back Charley Smith and hit Dick Howser before the umpires summoned both managers and laid down the law.

Howser and the Red Sox agreed the pitch that hit him on the helmet was an accident, but it left Lonborg with 10 hit batsmen this season, tops in the league.

Asked later if he threw at Tillotson, the 6-foot-5 right-hander answered "What do you think? I have to protect my own players."

It's all part of the new Lonborg, who has changed his friendly attitude for a strictly business manner on the mound that discourages hitters from digging in at the plate.

"I want to be the best in my business," the 24-year-old college graduate who once had ambitions to be a doctor, said earlier this year. "I'm not going to let anything interfere. The batters took too many liberties with me my first two years. I don't throw at anybody, but I can't let them do it anymore."

Lonborg, who was 9-17 as a rookie and 10-10 last year, allowed seven hits — Yankee hits — as he ran his record to 9-2, lowered his earned run average to 3.03 and struck out seven to raise his league lead to 105.

Tony Conigliaro's three-run homer and three-run scoring hits by Carl Yastrzemski led the Red Sox attack against Tillotson.

McNertney also slammed three hits, driving in two runs and scoring a third as the White Sox won their opener on the shutout relief pitching of winner Bruce Howard and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Watt entered in time to strike out Bert Campaneris with the bases loaded in the eighth inning and protect Pete Richert's victory for the Orioles.

Frank Robinson hit his 21st homer with a man on and Dave Johnson drove in two more runs to build Baltimore's lead.

Two-run homers by Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe of Detroit matched Harmon Killebrew's 20th and 21st homers and a shot by Rod Carew of the Twins in their game that was delayed by rain an hour at the start and then stopped four more times before it was called.

All records count and the game will be replayed from the start.

Clay's Lawyers See Long Delays Ahead

HOUSTON, (AP) — Attorneys for Cassius Clay said today it probably will be 18 to 24 months before the appeals are settled on the heavyweight champion's conviction on a charge of refusing to be inducted into the U.S. Army.

Meanwhile, Clay, free on a $5,000 appeals bond, said he soon plans to embark on a series of speaking engagements at colleges and in slum districts.

He said he wasn't thinking about future ring bouts although "everybody knows I'm the best."

Hayden Covington of New York City, Clay's chief lawyer, said it probably will be six months before all records of the trial are transfered to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans and another three months before arguments are heard.

He indicated the final outcome will be determined in the Supreme Court, a decision he predicted is 18 months to two years away.

Clay was convicted Tuesday by an all-white federal court jury. Judge Joe Ingraham assessed the maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Clay, who refused to take the oath as a draftee April 28, contended he should be exempt because he is a Black Muslim minister named Muhammad Ali. Judge Ingraham instructed the jury, however, to only consider whether Clay knowingly and unlawfully refused to be inducted.

The champion gave no indication of concern Wednesday as he accompanied his attorneys, Covington and Quinnan Hodges of Houston, to the Federal Building for the formal notice of appeal and renewal of the bond he posted following his indictment May 8.

The bond conditions stipulate that he cannot leave this country without permission of the court.

The champion said he plans to go to Chicago soon and then begin his speaking engagements. He mentioned Atlanta; Jacksonville, Fla.; Cleveland; Detroit, and Washington, D.C.

Meet Jack Fisher-Durable Met

In 4th Season Of Dubious Role With New York

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Have a big enough hall and you could assemble all of the 62 poor souls who've had the thankless task of pitching for the New York Mets during their 5½ adventurous seasons.

But the chairman of the meeting would have to be Jack Fisher, who's in his fourth season of that punishing job. Fisher had been at it longer than anybody else and for that he deserves to be chairman.

He hurled a brilliant two-hitter Wednesday night and beat Philadelphia 2-0 on an attack that consisted mainly of Tommy Davis getting plunked by Jim Bunning's pitches.

It was the best pitched game in the National League where Cincinnati nipped Houston 3-2, Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 6-3, Atlanta battered San Francisco 9-2 and St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 2-0.

The only hits off Fisher were by rookie Gary Sutherland, who looped a leadoff double in the sixth and then singled in the eighth. Fisher struck out five and walked two in running his record to 5-7.

Bunning Is Victim

The Mets nicked Bunning for single runs in the first and third innings. Cleon Jones singled and stole second before Bunning hit Ed Kranepool and Davis in the first. Tom Reynolds' sacrifice fly delivered the run.

In the third, Davis was hit again, reached third on Rich Allen's error and then scored on a grounder.

Fisher, the workhorse of the Mets' staff, sailed through the first five innings. Sutherland's double and a pair of walks loaded the bases in the sixth but he escaped by getting Bill White on a grounder.

Like almost all their games, there was a touch of irony attached to the two-hitter for Fisher and the Mets. Sutherland, the only man to hit him safely, is the brother of a former Met pitcher.

Vada Pinson opened Cincinnati's ninth inning with a double and came around on a fly ball and a grounder for the Reds' winning run against Houston.

Pinson moved to third on Tony Perez' fly and scored on Lee May's bouncer. Perez and May accounted for Cincinnati's first two runs with solo homers. Jim Wynn hit his 17th for the Astros.

The Cubs moved into third place by beating the Pirates with Curt Simmons and Dick Radatz making an early four-run bulge stand up.

No Trouble in Ninth

Simmons, 38, worked the first eight innings and Radatz set Pittsburgh down in the ninth as Chicago moved .001 ahead of San Francisco. Adolpho Phillips drove in two runs with a first inning single and John Boccabella chased two more across with a triple in the sixth.

Bob Uecker drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a double as the Braves whacked the Giants.

Uecker's shot capped a seven-run Atlanta third that put it away for Pat Jarvis, who hurled a six-hitter. Denis Menke tagged three hits including a homer for the Braves.

Right-hander Ray Washburn and two relievers combined for a four-hitter as the Cardinals blanked the Dodgers and ended a four-game Los Angeles winning streak.

Washburn had allowed just three hits until the seventh when he stopped a line drive single by John Roseboro with his pitching hand. Joe Hoerner relieved and pitched out of a bases-loaded jam. He needed last-out help from Nelson Briles.

Washburn suffered a compound dislocation of his right thumb but X rays showed no fractures.

Merrill Fires Ace At Twaalfskill

William Merrill Jr. aced the par-three No. 2 hole at the Twaalfskill Club with an 8-iron shot this week.

Witnesses to the hole-in-one, first of the season at Twaalfskill, were his father, William Merriell, Dr. Douw Meyers and Joseph Marr.

Wolven Blanks Shell Nine, 8-0

Mouse Wolven of Michael's Barber Shop posted his second shutout of the season, a two-hit 8-0 romp over Paul's Shell in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

The win tied Michael's with Community Billiard Center for the league lead on 4 wins and 2 losses.

Nine Tourneys On LPGA Slate

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golf Association announced Tuesday a program of nine fall tournaments which will count in official prize winnings and one unofficial event.

The entire 1967 tournament tour now calls for 28 official events and three classified as unofficial. The purses will total $416,400, second only to last year's $485,000 when there were 37 tournaments, 32 official and five unofficial.

The fall schedule:

Pacific Golf Classic, Eugene, Ore., Sept. 8-10, $10,000; Shirley Englehorn Invitational, Caldwell, Idaho, Sept. 15-17, $11,000; Mickey Wright Invitational, Bonsall, Calif., Sept. 22-24; $11,500; Ladies' Los Angeles Open, Montebello, Calif., Sept. 28-Oct. 1, $15,000; Seven Lakes Invitational (unofficial), Palm Spring, Calif., Oct. 2, $4,000.

Foul Weather Slices State's Track Revenues

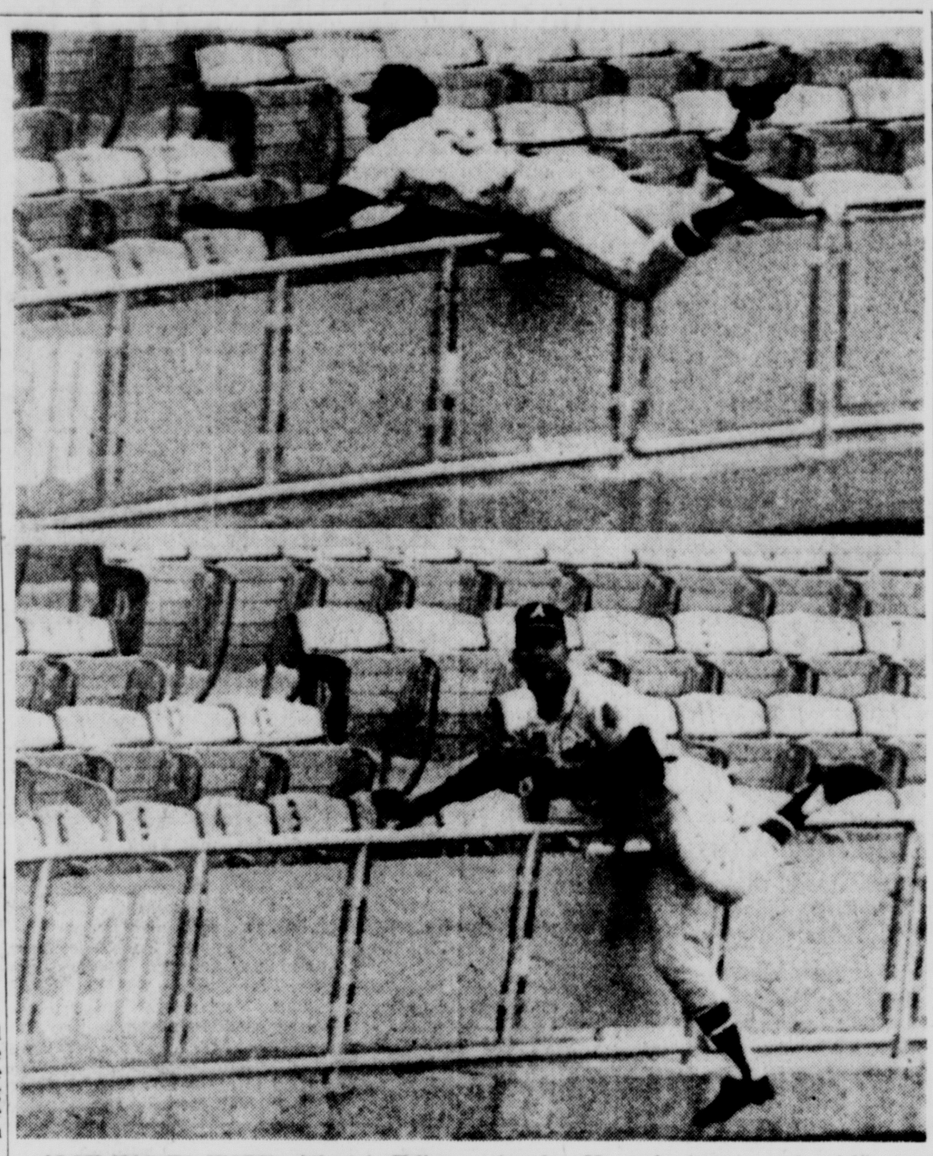

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Foul weather and a horsemen's strike are blamed for the slice in state revenue from this year's spring meeting at Aqueduct Race Track—$3 million less than in 1966.

The State Tax Department reported Wednesday the state's take this year was $20,493,098, as compared to $23,621,717 in 1966.

The department noted, however, that this year's spring meeting had been scheduled for 69 days but was cut nine days because of the weather and the horse-owners' strike.

During the 60-day meeting, attendance totaled 1,994,075 and the combined betting handle was $186,719,801, compared with attendance of 2,297,052 and a handle of $215,422,089 last year.

The horsemen withheld entries for five days at the track because of the state Legislature's refusal to pass a bill that would have increased purses. When legislative leaders agreed to pass such a bill next year, the owners agreed to race their horses.

ALOU HAS TO WORK—Atlanta's Felipe Alou has to stretch all the way to the second row to get his hands on Lou Johnson's long fly in the first inning of Tuesday game between the Dodgers and Braves in Los Angeles. He grabs it, top, and quickly gets off throw to first in an attempt to head off Ron Hunt, who had rounded second. (AP Wirephoto).

Phillies Sell Groat to Frisco

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies sold veteran shortstop Dick Groat to the San Francisco Giants for the waiver price Wednesday.

Groat, acquired from St. Louis in the fall of 1965, had been sidelined most of the season with inflammation of the right ankle. He returned June 9, but has seen limited action. He has appeared in only 10 games this season and is batting .115.

West Golfers Defeat East

SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE, Pa. (AP)—Ben Kern, a 20-year-old Canadian who wrote a letter to New Mexico State College for a golf scholarship and got it, shot the best round of golf as the West scored its fourth straight victory over the East Tuesday in the 33rd annual NCAA intersectional links rivalry.

The Western all-stars sliced the East's superiority in the regional play to 16-15—there have been two ties—as they scored an 11½-7½ best ball victory at the Shawnee Inn golf course in the Pocono Mountains of Eastern Pennsylvania. Of the 19 matches played, the West won 11, lost 7 and halved one.

Kern, a six-footer, whose brother Fred is co-pro with Al Balding at the Markland Wood Country Club in Toronto, carded two birdies and played the other 16 holes of the 7,025-yard course in regulation for a two-under-par round of 70.

Yonkers Feature To Yankee Mick

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Popfinger drove favored Yankee Mick to a narrow victory over Forshy Wednesday night in the $5,000 pace at Yonkers Raceway, the top event during the evening's harness racing in New York State.

Yankee Mick, a 9-year-old son of Meadow Rice, edged the challenger by a neck after covering the mile in a fast 2:01 4-5. Caribee was third.

The winner returned $4.60.

In races featured at other New York tracks:

Saratoga Raceway—Mr. Hoff ($10) defeated Maine Byrd by two lengths and won a leg of the $4,500 pace in 2:02 4-5. Memorial Creed was third.

Vernon Downs — Tiega Flash ($4.60) dashed to an easy, 4½-length win over Thunderstrides and third-place Amplify in the $2,000 pace for 2-year-olds. The mile was clocked in 2:05.

Buffalo Raceway — Dancing Rocket ($3.40), another 2-year-old, defeated Jupiter by a length in 2:13 3-5 and won the $1,875 Henry T. Adios series pace. Newport Wigwam finished third.

Terrell Thinks Clay Is Through

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—If Cassius Clay serves the full five-year sentence imposed on him for refusing to be inducted into the Army he never will fight again, says heavyweight boxer Ernie Terrell.

"I don't see how he could fight after five years," Terrell told The Associated Press Wednesday.

Terrell is here for a two-week engagement at a nightclub with a musical group he heads. In addition, he is going through light training at a nearby camp in preparation for the World Boxing Association's planned elimination tournament to determine Clay's successor.

Terrell, who was battered by Clay for 15 rounds in a bout last March, said he would be glad to face Clay again. Asked whether he would win the return match, Terrell replied: "That's one thing I'm sure of."

Vols Pitcher Stops Kiwanis With One Hit

Ricky Cogswell of Volunteer Firemen checked Kiwanis, 11-0, on a one hitter with 12 strikeouts in the Babe Ruth league.

The lone hit off Cogswell was a single by Joe Darwak, one of four Kiwanis pitchers who yielded 12 hits among them.

Pete Koola of the Knights of Columbus was equally impressive, stopping Elks Lodge, 8-0, on two hits and 10 strikouts. Both of the Elks hits went to Burt Bodie, the catcher, who stroked a single and double.

In another game, Lions Club scored 13 runs in the first inning and went on to rout Food Fair, 29 to 3, setting a new league record for scoring.

Cogswell helped his own cause with a double and triple. Hank Harder contributed four singles for the Vols and Dan Reinhard had a single and double.

Paul Saehloff of the Knights collected a triple and two singles. Earl Edmond and Vince Provenzano each had two singles.

Tom Valentini of the host club trailed Murphy by one stroke on a 34-37-71 card. Murphy, who also stars at Siena College, three-putted the par-4 tenth to go 1-over, but then rolled in a 30-footer for a birdie 3 on the 375-yard 17th and parred the short 18th for his 70.

Valentini grabbed low net honors with 71-6-65.

Cleveland Open Test for Jack

CLEVELAND (AP) — Newly crowned U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus was a heavy favorite today to capture the $103,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

But the big belter from Columbus wasn't likely to carry a smug attitude into the first round of play.

The blond power-hitter won the National Open in record-shattering fashion last weekend with a crafty performance. His five- under-par 65 Sunday at Baltusrol Country Club in Springfield, N.J., included eight birdies.

It was the second Open crown for the 27-year-old Buckeye pro who owns every major title in the book.

But Nicklaus, who has won more than a half million dollars in slightly more than five years, has never come out on top here. Observers figure he may find the $20,700 first prize interesting enough to apply the pressure.

Nicklaus had been anything but impressive until his decisive triumph last week and may be ready to attack the Aurora County Club's tight 6,611-yard layout where par is 70.

In the first Cleveland Open in 1963, Nicklaus finished seventh while Arnold Palmer prevailed.

In 1964, Jack finished in a tie for third while the late Tony Lema topped Palmer in a playoff for the title.

Trouble Last Year

Nicklaus skipped the '65 tourney, a move that drew criticism in these parts. He finished well back in the pack last year with a 278.

Nicklaus has had trouble before winning on Ohio courses. Even before turning to a lucrative career as a professional, Jack failed to win the Ohio Amateur, an event annexed twice by Palmer when the millionaire Pennsylvanian was in the Coast Guard stationed near here.

Still, based on the form he displayed at Baltusrol, Nicklaus has to be the man to beat. Stiff competition should come from Palmer, Billy Casper, Julius Boros, the tour's only three-tournament winner, and R.H. Sikes, last year's champion.

Nicklaus tuned up for first-round action with a nine-hole score of 34 in Wednesday's rain-curtailed pro-am event.

FORDHAM FLASH—Frankie Frisch, member of baseball's Hall of Fame, relaxes on porch of his home in Charlestown, R. I. with his two spaniels. Frisch, who will be 70-years-old in September, went from the Fordham campus to become an infielder with John McGraw's New York Giants in 1919. Since then he has managed several teams and finished his career in baseball as a sportscaster. He enjoys the quiet life in the small Rhode Island community he says. (AP Wirephoto).

Agnes Kennedy Tourney Winner

Miss Agnes Kennedy collected most bogeys in an 18-hole round to place first in the Ladies Day competition Wednesday at Wiltwyck Country Club. She fired 105-20-85 net.

Second place went to Mrs. Herbert Martin with 9 bogies and 113-27-86 net. Tied for the next three places were: Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli (7), 126-31-95; Mrs. Lloyd Le Fever (7), 113-25-88; Mrs. Richard Davenport (7), 93-12-81.

Elmhurst Queen Runs Fastest Mile for Frosh

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway fans got a glimpse of the future champions of the sport last night when two-year-olds were highlighted in the featured pace and a pair of fleet fillies by Tar Heel kicked up their heels to the field.

Most of the youngsters are regulars in the MR juvenile education program and they had to bow to Elmhurst Queen who whizzed the mile in 2:06.2 —the fastest by a freshman filly on a half-mile track in the nation this season.

It was Elmhurst's first parimutuel start on the season, but earlier the youngster had humbled three non-betting fields in a row—and fans picked her as the most likely to succeed —sending her off a 4-5 choice.

From the number 6 post, driver Johnny Edmunds sent Elmhurst off slowly, moving from deep in the field coming to the half. Early leader was Stacked Heels, another Tar Heel offspring, who led at the quarter before War Bird took over. Shortly past the half-mile Elmhurst grabbed the lead, with Stacked Heels, Elden Harner, in close pursuit. They came to the final quarter in 32.3 without changing position while the Sunday Man moved up to take third.

The winner paid $3.80 for $2.

16 Pre-Season Games Set in Pro Football

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League and the American Football League will get together to play 16 preseason games this year during the period between Aug. 5 and Sept. 3.

Regular season play between the two leagues is not expected to start until 1970. The only previous meeting of the leagues was in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles where the Green Bay Packers of the NFL defeated the Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL.

Th first inter-league test will be Saturday, Aug. 5, with Detroit at Denver.

Detroit will play three AFL rivals—Eenver, Buffalo and San Diego—and the Philadelphia Eagles and Los Angeles Rams each will play two AFL teams. St. Louis, Green Bay, New York and Cleveland of the NFL will not play any games with the other league this year.

Each of the other teams, except Detroit, Philadelphia and Los Angeles, will play one each.

All of the AFL teams will play NFL teams. San Diego will take on Detroit, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh. Buffalo, Boston, Kansas City, Miami and Denver each will play two and Houston, the New York Jets and Oakland one each.

No New York Game

Although there will be no Giant-Jets meeting of the two New York teams, there will be a Sept. 3 battle at Oakland between the San Francisco 49ers and the Oakland Raiders. An all-Texas game will be played Sept. 2 when the Dallas Cowboys invade Houston to play the Oilers.

The San Diego Chargers, who used to make Los Angeles their home, will face the Los Angeles Rams Aug. 27 at San Diego and the newest expansion teams, Miami of the AFL and New Orleans of the NFL, will meet Sept. 2 on the neutral ground of Charleston, S.C.

The NFL's preseason schedule, announced by President Art Modell, Cleveland owner, cal for a total of 51 games including the 16 with the AFL.

"The fact that nearly a third of our games are with AFL teams makes this an especially interesting prelude to the new NFL season," said Modell."

Merger Agreement

Under the terms of the merger agreement each AFL tam was guaranteed at least one game with an NFL rival.

Six of the NFL games will be carried on national telecasts, starting with the Green Bay-College All-Star game at Chicago, Aug. 4 on the American Broadcasting Company. Five other nationally televised games will be carried by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The regular NFL season opens Sept. 17 but the regular AFL season opens Sept. 3. The NFL 51-game preseason schedule compares with only 37 in 1966.

AFL president Milt Woodard announced the league's longest preseason schedule, 29 games stretching from July 29 to Sept. 3. The first game will send Miami against Denver at Akron, Ohio Saturday, July 29.

City League Change

Games originally scheduled Sunday night in the City Baseball League at Dietz Stadium will be played Saturday night instead. Elmer's Inn takes on Schovel's Tree Service at 6 p. m., with All Stars vs. Herzog's following.

Bitter Battle Looms Over Washington State Park

By STEPHEN PONDER

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Towering clouds of controversy have gathered over Washington's North Cascade Mountains, the ruggedest remaining wilderness area in the state once considered America's last frontier.

The frontier has been conquered, Puget Sound is becoming urbanized and residents are bitterly divided in the latest of a series of conservation battles, over a North Cascades National Park.

Washington has two national parks, Mount Ranier, designated in 1899 and encompassing 241,781 acres, and Olympic, designated in 1938 and containing 888,558 acres.

A North Cascades National Park was first proposed in 1906 by a Portland, Ore., mountaineering club, the Mazamas. The proposal did not attract national attention, however, until 1963, when a federal study of the North Cascades began.

The federal North Cascades study team looked at 6.3-million acres of the mountain range in Washington. Its report took two and a half years to prepare. By a split vote, it recommended a 698,000-acre national park near the Canadian border.

"Here occurs the most breathtakingly beautiful and spectacular mountain scenery in the 48 continguous states," the report said.

"Here is scenic grandeur that unquestionably belongs in our national gallery of natural beauty.."

The study team stated the area contained 519 glaciers covering 97 square miles, three times the glacier area in all the rest of the United States outside Alaska. The report said the 6.3-million-acre area contained 288 mountain peaks between 7,000 und 9,000 feet and 16 higher than 9,999 feet.

In lengthy hearings held in the state and in Washington, D.C., on proposed federal legislation for a national park, no one has disagreed on the beauty of the remote area.

But the study team report, a 190-page volume, provided new ammunition for both sides. The five team members split 3-2 on the national park recommendation and their vote points up a key issue — which federal agency should administer the area.

Washington's federal land ownership is higher than most states and 99 per cent of the area in the proposed 570,000-acre national park now before Congress is federally owned. It is administered by the U.S. Forest Service.

The Forest Service and the National Park Service, branches respectively of the Departments of Agriculture and Interior, have been rivals.

Both agencies were reported in agreement, however, in the park bill now before Congress, calling for a 570,000-acre park and a series of wilderness and recreation areas.

But in hearings held on the bill in the state in May, supporters of the Forest Service charge Sen. Henry M. Jackson D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, with "muzzling" the agency.

The senator said at a hearing at Mount Vernon, that federal agencies don't make policy and the policy had changed.

"Our unfortunate history with the present management agency of the North Cascades, the Forest Service, has been a long one of logging sale after logging sale in prime scenic and wildernsss areas which should never have been cut," said Seattle attorney Brook Evans, the Sierra Club's northwest conservation representative, at one of the hearings.

"Under Forest Service management, everything that can be done for preservation of the natural beauty can be implemented," Mayor William O. Pearson of Pedro Woolley, a town near the proposed park, testified. "These Forest Service people are dedicated personnel and when they are described as despoiler of nature they are being maligned."

Jackson and Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., sponsored the bill for a 570,000-acre park as part of a 1.2-million-acre park, wilderness and recreation area. Jackson said at the end of three hearings in Washington he expects it to pass the Senate this year in amended form.

The North Cascades Conservation Council the primary conservation group backing the park, thinks this is too small.

Council President Dr. Patrick D. Goldsworthy, a biochemistry professor at the University of Washington in Seattle, said the group proposes a 783,460-acre national park as part of a 1.5-million-acre park, wilderness and recreation area complex.

The council, formed in 1957, is an independent state group which has become the nucleus of the fight for a park. Its members are particularly sensitive to charges they are dominated by the California-based Sierra Club.

"Two-thirds of our 1,200 members don't belong to any other group at all," Goldsworthy said. "We are absolutely unaffiliated and not responsible for any other group."

The proposal supported by the state's sportsmen and many park opponents is Gov. Dan Evans' 1.8-million-acre park, wilderness and recreation area plan. It would contain a 320,000,-acre national park.

Greenridge Jury Is Discharged

After deliberating until shortly before 9 p. m. Tuesday, the jury which heard the testimony in the George Leonard Greenridge burglary and larceny case was unable to agree and was discharged from further deliberation.

Greenridge, 17, of 64 Van Buren Street, was indicted on a charge of burglary, unlawful entry and grand larceny arising out of an entrance to the Saccoman's Jewelry store at 576 Broadway last March 10. A window in the store was broken and rings valued at over $500 were taken. Greenridge and a 15-year old boy were arrested and charged with the entrance. Greenridge was arrested by Kingston police near the scene after a couple of shots had been fired by police officers to halt the fleeing pair. A poilce officer at the Goldfarb gas station across Broadway from the jewelery store witnessed the break-in. Greenridge contended he was not involved in the break-in but entrance had been made by the juvenile who gave him the missing articles.

Eskimo Bolas

Eskimos use the bolas for catching birds. A bolas is composed of three balls connected with each other at a common center by thongs several feet long. One ball, smaller than the others, is held while whirling the bolars. The purpose is to entangle the victim rather than to kill it, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

I see Ed Eckert, is director of Radio-TV-Motion Picture Bureau of the New York State Department of Commerce. He is one of our local boys of Ulster County. They send me two packets every week and I go through them for local interest or interesting information.

One item of information informs me that New York State was the only one of the original 13 colonies that did not ratify the Declaration of Independence on July 4th. It seems our legislature was in the process of being elected, and they could not get together to vote on it until July 8, and our four representatives to the Continental Congress signed it on July 9.

So, with great rejoicing, the first Independence Day was marked here on July 9, 1776. Item further states, that during the celebration they threw down the leaden statue of George III on the Bowling Green in New York City and melted it into bullets for the American troops.

They mention some of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, one being, Lewis Morris, His grandfather, also called Lewis, they feel probably wrote the attacks on the British governor which were published in the historic John Peter Zenger's newspaper. Zenger's acquittal in his libel trial set the pattern for the freedom of the press which exists today.

When Lewis Morris signed the Declaration of Independence, his estate was already in the hands of the British, so for punishment, they destroyed the manor house, laid waste the land, and expelled his family. After the war, Morris returned to his estate, rebuilt the house and farmed it for the rest of his life, thus he knew well, that a man's home is his castle, although sometimes one has to fight for it against those in power.

Training Plan To Be Launched By Air Force

T/Sgt. Dave Pauly, the local Air Force recruiter, announced today that starting July 1, the Air Force has a new training program for prior servicemen.

It is now possible, Sgt. Pauly said, for ex-members of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard to enter the Air Force and select technical training in various Air Force schools.

As an example, Sgt. Pauly said, a prior serviceman could select training as an electronic computer repairman. This is a 46-week course in electronic computer repair, or there is also a course in data processing machine operator.

Over 36 schools of all types are to be open. Anyone interested in this new program may see Sgt. Pauly as soon as possible because many of these school assignments will be filled soon. Sgt. Pauly's office is at 597 Broadway in Kingston.

Details Listed For Additions To Two Schools

Plans for additions to the Mt. Marion and Glasco Schools in the Saugerties Central School District show an increase of 17 rooms at Glasco and 10 rooms at Mt. Marion. In addition, both schools will have a new two station gymnasium. At Mt. Marion School the administration and health areas will be increased. The Glasco School will have additional storage space and a library resource room.

Superintendent of schools, Dr. Dexter A. Arnold said the additional rooms will not only provide classroom space needed to prevent split sessions for the foreseeable future, but would also provide space to improve the quality of education by making space available for art, music, remedial work and other facets of the instructional program, not only in those two schools, but in Main Street School and Morse School as well. In order to meet State requirements, additional land must be purchased as Glasco School and the Board of Education presently holds an option for approximately 12 acres of property adjacent to present site.

As building costs are constantly increasing and rooms should be provided for the education of children, Saugerties voters have been urged by the Board of Education to vote favorably for the bond issue to be presented Thursday, June 29. Polls will be open for voting from 12 noon until 9 p. m., at Main Street School Auditorium. Committees in each of the four elementary school areas have been working under the direction of the building principals, Patrick Buonfiglio at Morse School; Ernest Blake, Mt. Marion; Norman Bolinder, Main Street School and Clarence Bryden, Glasco School. In cooperation with parents and School Board members, the principals have sought to bring out a maximum number of people to each of the information meetings held in the schools. They will continue to work to assure a l arge favorable vote on June 29, they say.

Parent who wish to assist are encouraged to volunteer their services to any one of the principals and people who seek transportation or information can do so in the same manner.

At a recent meeting president of the Board of Education, Jack A. Pakanen, said the Board of Education and the administrative staff have now done everything possible to provide the needed facilities for pupils and that whether or not these facilities become a reality depends upon the voters themselves on June 29.

DAR Adjourns With Flag Day Picnic Party

Saugerties Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution held its June meeting in the form of a covered dish picnic at the home of Mrs. William Young, Lighthouse Drive. It was the final meeting of the Chapter until Sept. 6.

A short business meeting was held and delegates and alternates were announced for the New York State Conference of the DAR to be held in Buffalo next October. They are Mrs. Carrol Nieffer, Regent, and Mrs. William Young as delegates and Mrs. Daniel Lamouree and Mrs. Robert Freer as alternates.

The Chapter also voted to sponsor a Brownie Girl Scout Troop.

In celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Daniel Lamouree, she was presented with a card signed by all members and guests at the meeting, a decorated cake and a vase filled with yellow roses.

The meeting had as its program, "Our American Flag," in observance of Flag Day on June 14. Mrs. Freer, chairman of the Flag of the United States of America Committee, was in charge of the program. A special state project, and one which the Saugerties Chapter participates in, is the annual Flag Essay Contest, open to all pupils of the seventh and eighth grades. Every pupil submitting an essay receives a Flag Recognition Card from the Chapter. Three prizes are given on the state level, a $50 bond, a $25 bond and a third prize. Also, each individual Chapter honors winners in some way.

There were 17 entrants this year from local schools. Miss Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, was the grand prize winner. Jane is a seventh grade student in St. Mary of the Snow School. First prize winner in the eighth grade was Stephen Nicholich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Nicholich of Katsbaan. The judges also chose second place essays: for seventh grade —Kathleen Brice, and eighth grade—Karen Rightmyer. The grand and first prize winners and their parents were guests of the Saugerties Chapter at its Flag Day picnic. Books on the American flag were presented to the winners by Mrs. William Young, local Flag Day chairman.

Board Approves $1,200 Repairs

Saugerties Village Board has voted the sum of $1,200 to be used for needed repairs to the fire truck of the local Exempts group.

Fire Commissioner Donald McCaig noted at this week's board meeting that the truck was out of service since both the booster and pump were inoperable, and he recommended repairs in the amount noted, as received in an estimate from the mechanical department of Waterous Pump Company.

McCaig also reported at the meeting that the annual July 4 inspection will be held at 9:15 a. m. in the main firehouse. The two new Fire Department chaplains, the Rev. Frederick Imhoff and Father Joseph Hamilton, have been invited to attend the yearly inspection and the blessing of the new departmental flags will take place at that time.

Announcement was made by Parks Commissioner Richard Underhill that the local beach had opened officially June 18 with full personnel and that all playgrounds in the area, including the Lions Playground and Seamon Park, would be opened officially this coming Monday. He added that plans call for the placement of more picnic benches at the beach.

Police Commissioner Charles Steele read a letter of resignation from the Police Department by Patrolman Coverly W. Chapman. His resignation was accepted with regret and it was noted that an opening now exists on the local police force.

The board also filed a letter from the State Department of Public Works in reply to a board letter to that department on March 9, concerning the condition of the Main Street roadbed. The letter noted that public works crews have made frequent repairs to the pavement in question and will endeavor to keep the problem at a minimum.

Trustees also granted local Jaycees permission to use a sound truck in the village on June 23 and 30, with the stipulation that activities cease by 10 p. m. Jayncees were given permission to use Roger Donlon Auditorium for the Pete Williams show on July 2, since it was found necessary to move this annual affair indoors this year.

Lodge Closing

Queen of the Catskill Mountain Rebekah Lodge 436 of West Saugerties held its last meeting of the season last night with a covered dish supper for members and friends. Following the meal, members held their regular meeting, beginning with the reading by the Noble Grand of a tribute to the American flag.

All were reminded of the rummage sale to be held at the hall June 30 and July 1.

The Sovereign Grand Master A. M. Block had designated Tuesday, June 13 or the Sunday preceding or following, to commemorate the virtues of deceased members.

July will begin the 18th United Nations Pilgrimage for youth. One thousand or more students will arrive in New York City to learn more about the work of the United Nations. They will come from every state in the country, every province of Canada, and from Australia and other far-distant countries. This is sponsored by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

Blanche Lamouree was escorted to the altar where the Noble Grand presented her with a corsage and gift in honor of her 50th wedding anniversary. At the close of the meeting slides were shown of many interesting places and all present were wished a very happy summer.

"Get Out Vote" Winning Slate Urges GOPers

The Town of Saugerties Republican Club meeting held last week, featured the four GOP endorsed candidates who successfully ran for the County Legislature from Saugerties in the June 20 Primary. Members heard Clifford Snyder, associated with IBM; C. Freeman Lasher, Saugerties businessman; William D. Brinnier, Saugerties attorney, and Peter Williams, Saugerties supervisor, all of whom urged them to "get out the votes" this year.

Endorsement of this winning slate of candidates had been made by both the Republican Club and the Town Committee, composed of committeemen from each of the voting districts in the town.

Richard Luther, Saugerties schoolteacher, without club or committee backing, had filed an independent petition for the Primary, but lost. Michael Catalinotto, Republican committeeman, at last week's meeting, cited the four endorsed candidates, reiterating their qualifications and stating that charges made that these men were politically beholden or observient were absolutely ridiculous, particularly in light of the strong character of each of the four.

Christmas Event Readied Locally

Area hobbyists may still participate in the VFW sponsored "Christmas in July Sale" to be held at the VFW Hall, Livingston Street, on July 20, 21 and 22. At that time, the hall will be transformed into a wonderland of handmade and new gift items, along with novel Christmas decorations for home and tree.

Any person wishing to have a booth to display handcrafts may do so free. A small commission is asked as a donation to the VFW Auxiliary fund which is used primarily for hospital and relief work. Mrs. Barbara Sperl or Mrs. Isabel DeCelle should be contacted now for a reserved space.

Doors will open to the public at 10 a. m. each day. Friday night the sale will be open until 9 p. m.

Christmas stockings, hand decorated balls, novel Christmas earnings and pin sets are only a few of the many items the committee has been working on for months.

Flags, antiques, toys, and handmade doll clothes are some of the wares to be displayed. Refreshments will be available all day.

A free, half hour, continuous movie, "The Spirit of Christmas" will be shown for children in the basement. Admission is free. The public is cordially invited to attend the sale and other events.

Mangum Named Chairman of Human Rights

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP —Robert J. Mangum of Brooklyn, a former deputy commissioner of police in New York City, today was named chairman of the State Commission for Human Rights.

Mangum, who since February 1966 has been the Northeast regional director of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, succeeds George H. Fowler, who resigned to become a member of the Public Employment Relations Board.

In announcing the appointment, Gov. Rockefeller said, "Mr. Mangum is eminently and uniquely qualified to succeed Chairman Fowler, who has served with dedication in a tremendously challenging job."

Mangum's appointment to the $29,160-a-year post is subject to Senate confirmation.

In December 1942, Mangum was appointed to the New York City Police Department and rose through the ranks to become deputy commissioner in 1954.

Ten years ago, Mangum was selected as "Man of the Year" by the Young Men's Board of Trade in New York City. (HARYOU) and a member of the executive board of the Boys Scouts of America.

Bridge

Vienna Coup Is Slam Key

By Oswald & James Jacby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the special tools in every expert's kit bag is the "Grand Slam Force." Invented by Ely Culbertson in 1934 this bid languished in limbo for a long time simply because it was too advanced for those early days. It has been received in the last 10 years.

South was well up on all bidding conventions and his five no-trump call is a perfect example of this bid at work. It asked North about the quality of his trumps. Of course South might have assumed that North would not open a vulnerable three heart bid in second seat without both the king and queen but there was no harm in finding out. North would have rebid six clubs with either diamonds with just the ace, and his six heart bid showed two of the three top honors. At least this is the way that particular pair play the convention There is no standard agreement on it.

East had started harassing with his four spade bid. He continued to six and seven and South took the push to seven no-trump.

South may well have been a genius at bidding. His play was far from that. He won the spade lead with his ace and started after the hearts. The last heart lead reduced his hand to four clubs and the ace of diamonds. West simply held on to his four clubs and South fell one trick short of the grand slam.

Do you see how South should have played the hand? He should have cashed his ace of diamonds before starting on the hearts.

The play is known as the Vienna Coup and would have insured the contract against West's club-diamond holding.

Group Formed For Clean Air

"Man live five weeks without food, five days without water, but he cannot live five minutes without air." The impact of this realization spurred the Gardiner Citizens and Taxpayers' Association to sponsor a recent meeting on air pollution in the Supervisors' room in the County Office Building.

The main speaker on this vitally important subject was George Majestic, Sup. of Gardiner, who in early May had attended the Northeast Public Official's Regional Clean Air Institute which was co-sponsored by the National Association of Counties and the Governors of the Northeast States at the Statler Hilton Hotel in New York City.

Majestic said that he was highly pleased with the ideas of Gov. Rockefeller who said in effect that he believed that only citizens could get the programs on clean air rolling and their action was the most powerful means to get town, county, state and the nation going full steam. Ordinarily, Majestic said, he would have made this report to the Board of Supervisors but in keeping with the spirit of the Governor's beliefs, he felt this direct approach to the people would stimulate immediate action. There were about 30 in attendance; a member of the Ulster County Board of Health and others representing, respectively, the Spring Valley Association, Esopus, and the Gardiner Citizens and Taxpayers' Association.

"With industry moving into a fast-growing Ulster County which in turn adds more people, more homes and more cars to our area, the time to prevent the hazards of air pollution is now," he said.

Majestic stressed this point and he said, inasmuch as boundaries have no meaning for air pollution, counties by necessity must work closely together."

"Progress in Ulster County certainly must go forward and yet we cannot permit pollution of our air to go unchecked. We want and need more industry in our county." Majestic added we must assure prospective businesses that we are ready and willing to work with them on air pollution. In this, he was in full accord with Gov. Rockefeller and the other Governors who felt there must be some tax deduction granted to compensate for the additional equipment needed to prevent air pollution. It was the consensus of those present that all must and will cooperate fully with industry.

Even now, there is serious pollution of air in certain areas in our county and these afflicted areas must have remedies soon. Counties must work hand in hand; perhaps from a Compact of Counties so that the same preventive measures will exist in all counties by levying similar demands on industry in all counties. There is no alternative; we must all work in unison — towns with counties; counties with State and State with Sister States," the speaker said.

Majestic also was impressed with some of the informative thinking of Alexander Rihm Jr. P. E. Assistant Commissioner, Division of Air Resources, New York State Department of Health at the New York meeting which was in part:

"The county, in the future, will undoubtedly provide the base for air pollution control programs in this country, and with few exceptions, will replace local City and Village Control programs."

"It is obvious from N.Y. State's experience that county governments are rapidly realizing their responsibilities and moving to solve air pollution problems on a regional basis. The most apparent advantage of county-administered regional air pollution control programs are:

Uniformity of approach to the solution of the problem.

A broader tax base and financial resources which are available to apply to the solution of the problem.

More effective use of personnel and also the ability to employ the competent personnel needed to deal with the overall problem.

More effective use of facilities. For instance, one laboratory can serve the region and provide better facilities for testing and analysis.

Uniformity of adminstration and enforcement, with resulting more effective control.

The response to Majestic's speech was enthusiastic and a committee of 10 volunteers was formed to carry on the work and to meet again June 27 at 8 p. m. in the County Office Building. The committees will work with industry, elected officials of town, county, state and federal; appointed officials (Ulster County Board of Health) and Citizens of Ulster County to set up regulations for Air Pollution Control which will be to the mutual benefit for all.

"It is sincerely hope," Majestic concluded, "that more and more Ulster County inhabitants will attend future sessions of these clean air meetings. It is a case of Life or Death."

DR. EDWIN W. GATES

Elect New President for Diabetes Group

Dr. Edwin W. Gates, of Niagara Falls, became president of the American Diabetes Association at its 27th annual meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., June 19. Dr. Gates has been active in the Association since 1953. He has served as a member of its board of directors since 1955. Elected treasurer of the Association in 1961, he held that office for four terms before becoming vice president in 1965. The Association chose Dr. Gates as its president-elect at its 26th annual meeting last year.

Dr. Gates is a member of the American Medical Association, the New York Academy of Science, the Western New York Society of Internal Medicine, the American Geriatric Society, the World Medical Association and a fellow of the American College of Physicians. He has been active in the Niagara Falls Diabetes Association, of which he was founder, and in 1951 served as chairman of the Subcommittee on Diabetes of the New York State Medical Society.

Dr. Gates was among the first to discover that the incidence of diabetes in the United States was much higher than had generally been believed. At Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital he organized a continuous general medical audit which has since become a model for similar systems in many other hospitals. In 1958, at the same institution, he organized one of the early poison control centers. He is author of many papers on medicine and on hospital administration.

In 1965 Dr. Gates formed the Charles H. Best Birthplace Trust, Inc., in order to negotiate purchase of the home in West Pembroke, Maine, where the co-discoverer of insulin was born, and to assure its preservation as an historic landmark. Title to the Charles H. Best Birthplace has now been transferred to the American Diabetes Association.

Dr. Gates is married to the former Agnes J. Cameron. They have one son, Edwin W. Gates Jr.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Summer Plans Set by Joint Rec Committee

NEW PALTZ—In an effort to provide better and healthier activities for the youth of New Paltz the summer recreation program has been greatly expanded.

The Village Board and the Town Board have contracted with the school board for the operation of the program. Funds are being provided by all three boards with certain matching funds from the state.

A youth recreation commission has been appointed consisting of two members from each board. These members are Harry Cornwell, chairman and Donald Martin from the school board; Peter Savago and Parks Glenn from the Town Board; and Leland Heinze and Harold Phillips from the village board. Frederick C. Dippel, supervising principal of the Central School will administer the program for the commission. Milton Ottesen is program director.

The program for the younger children will be much the same as last year consisting of arts and crafts and various recreational activities. This group will meet daily from 9-12 and from 1-3.

There will be a boys athletic program on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. This program will consist of two basketball leagues. One will be made up of teams of boys of junior high school age. The other will be composed of high school age boys.

A sports program for girls of junior senior high school age has been added this year. This group will meet daily from 1-3.

Another new feature this year will be a teen canteen program. The high school cafeteria will be open for dancing each Wednesday and Saturday from 8 until 11 p. m. Music will be recorded and from time to time by live bands. Snacks will be on sale at a nominal cost.

In addition to the above activities a number of full day trips are planned for the various groups.

Plan Teen Canteen

The teen canteen will open on Saturday, July 8 and will run for 10 weeks. It is planned that it will also be open during the Christmas and Easter holidays. All other programs will start on Monday, July 10 and will operate for a period of six weeks.

Ottesen is currently working out more detailed plans and as soon as they are completed they will be announced. Additional voluntary help will be needed to successfully operate the program especially the teen canteen. Individuals and organizations may volunteer help by contacting Ottesen.

Voodooism

Voodoo is still practiced in Haiti. The mystical ceremony, which is African in origin, begins at midnight and ends at dawn. Drums beat hypnotically when participants dance and, at the climax, worshippers test their faith by dipping hands into pots of boiling oil.

Man Nabbed After Getting By Red Guards

By JERRY STILKIND

NEW YORK (AP)—A detective asked the neatly dressed man who had strolled past a dozen policemen and had a foot inside the door of the mission where the Soviet premier was meeting with aides what he had in the canvas bag he was carrying. "A gun," replied the man.

Detective James Savarese already had him by the elbow as he was walking into the Soviet U.N. Mission. In seconds Wednesday, a group of policemen surrounded the 5-foot-5, slender man and found a loaded .32-caliber revolver, ammunition and a 10-inch hunting knife in the blue bag.

It was the third time since Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrived Saturday that an unauthorized person has seemed to penetrate the heavy security screen around him. But city police and State Department security forces insisted there were no holes in the protective net.

They said the man looked suspicious but was let through police barriers and up to the door of the mission because they wanted to be sure he was acting alone.

However, immediately after the arrest, police added a number of plainclothesmen to the detail on 67th Street between Lexington and 3rd Avenue.

Police identified the man as Michael Rocco Natale, 42, and charged him with possession of a dangerous weapon. At his arraignment in Criminal Court he was committed to Bellevue Hospital for observation.

Natale said he was an engineer but police described him as a drifter who slept in Bowery hotels.

Asst. Dist. Atty. David Richman told the court that Natale recently asked the State Department for permission to "visit friends" in the Soviet Union but did not elaborate on that.

The Alaska State Police said Natale was arrested in Nome on Sept. 1, 1964 on charges of disorderly conduct and had in his possession a copy of a letter he had sent to Nikita S. Khrushchev saying he wanted to discuss a world peace plan with the then Soviet premier.

Police said when Natale was questioned Wednesday he told them, "I didn't intend to harm anyone." He said he simply wanted to talk to any Soviet delegate about peace, police said.

Planner Joins Patterns

A British regional planner who has spent much of his career working with the Malayan government in Southeast Asia has joined Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress as an Associate Planning Director.

F. Roy Madgwick, who holds degrees from Kings College of the University of London and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will occupy one of the four key staff positions in the Pattern organization, a privately financed regional planning, research and development agency committed to promoting the orderly development of the seven-county Mid-Hudson Region.

C. David Loeks, president of Pattern, noted that Madgwick "comes to us with an extensive background in physical planning, but yet with a general interest in all aspects of regional development.

Madwick, who is the third associate director to be hired by Pattern, has been concerned primarily with the developmental aspects of regional planning, land cultivation, building new communities, and promoting the social and economic welfare of an area's people.

Developed Rural Area

Between 1953 and 1964, Madwick was an employe of the Malayan government, principally as chief of its survey department in the state of Trengganu, a predominately rural area which over the years has been gradually opened to development in accordance with national policies.

In this work, Madwick served as a member of the State Development Committee, which was headed by the Prime Minister of Trengganu, and included other political leaders plus representatives of other aspects of the regional development process: health and education officials, social workers, economists, industrial and commercial developers and the like.

Together, they developed federal and state supported programs for converting raw land into agricultural use, with Madgwick being responsible for drawing up various land use schemes for parcels ranging anywhere from 10 to 5,000 acres.

Bridges Planned

He was also instrumental in the design of new villages and in a network of new roads and bridges, which in his words, "opened up whole areas of the state which up to then were accessible only by foot."

In 1963, Medgwick left Malaya to pursue a graduate degree at MIT. While in Cambridge, he also worked for a planning consultant firm, Adams, Howard and Oppermann, and was assigned to helping draft a new, updated zoning ordinance for the city of Providence, R. I. In his course work, he was also investigating methods of preserving open space.

In 1966-67, following his graduation from MIT, Madgwick was in Libya, working as a senior planner with Whiting Associates, international architectural and planning consultants, who had been hired by the Libyan government to draft a master plan for the Tripoli metropolitan area.

Has Growing Pains

Tripoli, a city of about 250,000 persons, is expected to reach a million population by 1988, and already it is beginning to feel the pinch of rapid growth—mainly in public and private services.

Madgwick, a member of the American Institute of Planners and the American Society of Planning Officials, is a native of Arundel on the south coast of England, about 60 miles south of London.

He and his American wife, Barbara, are residing in New Paltz.

Firefighters Plan Gala July 4 Show

A spectacular fireworks display and three outstanding circus acts will feature the 11th annual July 4 celebration sponsored by the Kingston Paid Firefighters Benevolent Association Inc. at Dietz Memorial Stadium, according to Robert Gollnick, president.

The holiday event, which annually attracts upwards of 10,000 persons, is presented by the Firefighters Association to raise funds for the organization's participation in various civic and welfare projects in the Kingston area.

The fireworks display will be seen at dusk on the holiday night preceded by the annual show which this year will feature some of the most unusual and entertaining acts in show business.

President Gollnick said "our annual show was originated not only to provide holiday entertainment for youngsters and adults, but also to observe the patriotic significane of July 4 and in order that the importance of this holiday in America's great history of freedom will not go unnoticed in our community."

A flag-raising ceremony will open the night's program and the Firefighters Association will present a new American Flag which will be accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan.

Pre-show entertainment will be presented by the Rogues, local rock-and-roll band.

The entertainment will include the aerial sensation, Maritella, performing with daring skill and grace on the trapeze.

"Sabo's Chimps" will add to the delight of the children with their hilarious antics and circus acts.

Also presented in the stadium show will be the Almiros Trio, an internationally known juggling team.

Tickets are now on sale at both the Central and Wiltwyck Fire Stations and may be purchased from any member of the department. Ample parking facilities are available, including the uptown municipal parking lots, which can be used to handle overflow crowds and are within walking distance of the stadium.

Strengthen River Society: Aldrich

Alexander Aldrich, executive director of the Hudson River Valley Commission, urged the strengthening of the Hudson River Conservation Society and praised its long standing interest in conserving and enhancing the river valley in a speech to Society members Tuesday.

Introduced by William H. Osborn, Garrison, Society president, Aldrich noted the newer organizations of Pattern for Progress and his own HRVC came about through the efforts of the Hudson River Conservation Society, Inc., and other groups of interested valley residents.

One hundred and 75 members and guests attended the outdoor annual meeting at Olana despite threatening weather.

In other action, the Society elected Mrs. Erastus Corning, wife of the Mayor of Albany, to a four-year term on the Board of Directors, taking the place of John P. Remensnyder who was appointed to the Advisory Board.

Mrs. Simon C. Sidamon-Eristoff, Highland Falls, was appointed by the executive committee to complete the remainder of the term of Mrs. LeRoy Clark, Englewood, N. J.

Carl Carmer, Irvington, and Benjamin W. Frazier, Garrison, were reelected to four year terms.

Members toured the recently acquired Olana, home of the late Frederic E. Church, leading painter of the Hudson River School, which features an expansive view of the Hudson and a unique Moorish style home filled with paintings and objects of art. They also toured the Callendar House and Grasmere, other nearby historic landmarks.

Speaking of Olana, Aldrich cited the extreme value of the collection and urged the Society to press the Legislature for appointment of a curator for Olana. He said this was removed from the current budget and interested residents should fight to have it restored.

Press Secretary Wants New York Named Fun State

BY CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—If Leslie Slote had his way, New York would be known not only as the fun city but also as the fun state.

From his vantage point as Gov. Rockefeller's press secretary, Slote has been waging a one-man campaign to inject a sense of humor into the often deadly serious business of government.

He has been enjoying considerable success.

With an impish smile on his cherubic face, Slote daily makes merry with the established institutions of government and all persons who wander into range of his quick quips.

One of his specialties is blithely disarming officials—the higher ranking the better—and inducing them to chuckle along with him.

"Some of them are so intent it's a shame," he once said with a wink. "You'd think they were doing something really important—like playing tackle for the Giants."

But the portly, balding Slote is his own favorite target. He pokes fun at his corpulence, his cigar-smoking and his Jewish heritage—of which he also is jubilantly proud.

"Fat press secretaries are best," he proclaims. "You might say I'm a Jewish Pierre Salinger."

Slote has a fund of humorous chatter about his family, getting good mileage out of the fact that his wife, the former Lea Ben-Boaz, once served as a sergeant in the Israeli army.

Other characters in the family stories include a daughter, Louisa, and a son, Samuel, whom Slote calls "Shmuelik—pronounced Shmoo-lick—a Hebrew diminutive of Samuel.

As might be expected, Slote got good mileage out of the Israeli-Arab war.

During the conflict, telephone callers were briefed instantly on the latest developments, including information relayed by Slote relatives on the scene—especially "my cousin, the colonel."

At one point, Slote opened all conversation by saying:

"You are cordially invited to Shmuelik's bar mitzvah—at the Cairo Hilton."

WIFE REPORTS OLIVIER HAS CANCER — Sir Laurence Olivier's wife, actress Joan Plowright, said in London that the famed actor has cancer, but that there is a good chance of a cure. The couple is shown here March 18, 1961, in New York after they had been married earlier in the day. Olivier, 60, is hospitalized in London and being treated for what Miss Plowright called "a slight form of cancer" of the prostrate gland. (AP Wirephoto)

Publishers Pick Georgia Man as General Manager

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Leonard K. Peet, formerly of the Atlanta (Ga.) Newspapers Inc., was named general manager today of the New York State Publishers Association.

The announcement was made by Fred W. Stein, president. Stein is publisher of the Binghamton Press.

Peet, 34, succeeds W. Melvin Street, who resigned last March after 11 years to become business manager of the Baltimore News-American.

During the last five years Peet supervised all personnel and labor relations for the Atlanta company.

In 1965 and 1966, he designed and instituted a budget and cost control system increasing net profit in 1965 by 50 per cent over the previous year. Profits last year also showed a substantial gain.

The Georgia company employs 1,650 persons, 600 of whom are members of 11 other unions.

He is a graduate of the Georgia Institute of Technology with a master's degree in industrial management.

Rocky Endorses Restoration in Columbia County

The Columbia County Historical Society's efforts to restore the Van Alen House of Kinderhook have received the endorsement of Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

In a personal letter to Joseph Murell, executive director of Restoration 1737, the governor congratulated the historical society on its campaign to restore "one of the most authentic examples of early Dutch architecture remaining in the United States today."

The society is attempting to raise $100,000 for restoration and maintenance of the house which the governor called "one of Columbia County's richest historical treasures."

IBM Man Gives Talk on Errors In Minneapolis

Cesar R. Velasco of Saugerties, an International Business Machines Corporation engineer recently presented a tetchnical paper at the IEEE Conference on International Communications in Minneapolis Minn.

In his study, Velasco found that by applying mathematical formulas he could determine methods to detect errors and their effects on efficiency in transmitting computer data over telephone lines.

Using the formulas, he correlated error-detection schemes and transmission methods to calculate efficiency rates. The formulas make it possible to determine the type of error detection system that should be used matching the system to the computer users' need.

Messages Garbled

When designing a data communications system, factors considered are reliability, transmission efficiency and cost. Adequate control requires a detection method which can discern error patterns peculiar to the communications channel.

Error detectors are needed to unscramble garbled computer messages sent or received over telephone lines. Garbled messages can be caused by thunderstorms, other atmospheric conditions or the transmitting device itself.

The findings of Velasco's study were presented at the conference in a paper entitled, "Effects of Transmission Modes and Error-Detection Schemes on Transmission Efficiency."

A Senior Associate Engineer at IBM's Kingston Laboratory, Velasco came to the U. S. from the Philippines in 1960 as a Fulbright Fellow in math. He received his BS in geodetic engineering from the University of the Philippines and a Master's degree in math from Michigan State University. He lives at 3 Boxwood Court, Saugerties.

Shelby GT Here At Johnson Ford

Sleek and powerful is the way Ross Johnson describes this specially designed and modified Shelby GT 500 currently on display at the Johnson Ford showroom, Route 28 just west of the Kingston Thruway circle.

A true competition Gran Turismo racing car, the Shelby GT 500 is adapted and modified from the Ford Mustang 2 plus 2 by Carroll Shelby of Los Angeles, America's only FIA (Federation International de l'Automobile) World's Champion.

The dynamic sports car features the famous Cobra 428 cubic inch V-8 engine with two four-barrel carburators. The smartly styled automobile uses reinforced fiberglas for front and hood construction and incorporates five molded in air scoops to cool the engine, rear wheel brake drums, and provide inside car ventilation. Fiberglas also provides a molded rear deck air spoiler flap.

According to Johnson, there is but one other Shelby GT 500 in the area.

Superstition's Source

Early Christians considered walking under a ladder to be wrong because a ladder leaning against a building formed a triangle, the symbol of the Trinity. One who walked through the triangle defied religion and, thus, the superstition of bad luck arose.

Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States by the Treaty of Paris, signed in 1783.

143 Reds Killed

Pound North Rails, Plants

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. forces reported killing 143 Communist troops in two battles in the central lowlands Wednesday while waves of U. S. jets ranged over a wide area to pound North Vietnam's rail network and its biggest iron and steel works.

American casualties in the lowlands battles 300 miles north of Saigon were six dead, 22 wounded and four missing, the U. S. Command said. It said there was light, scattered contact in 21 other U. S. and allied ground operations.

With good weather prevailing, U. S. Air Force and Navy pilots flew 133 missions against the Communist North. They hammered 11 railroad yards and rail lines from the demilitarized zone to more than 50 miles above Hanoi.

The attacks on the rail network were a continuation of a two month-old campaign against Hanoi's rail routes. U.S. planes raided the Thai Nguyen steel works north of Hanoi for the eighth time, and a U. S. spokesman said an Air Force RF101 reconnaissance plane was shot down, the 587th U. S. combat lane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was rescued.

Hanoi Radio claimed three U.S. planes were shot down Wednesday, including two pilotless reconnaissance craft.

The U. S. Command announced that 143 Americans were killed in combat last week, the lowest for any week since early February. American casualties for the week totaled 1,112 — seven less than the week before — and included 953 wounded and 16 missing.

The U. S. Command reported a big jump in Communist dead, from 1,153 the week before to 1,852. The South Vietnamese government reported 213 of its troops killed last week, 556 wounded and 14 missing, compared with 215 killed, 496 wounded and 38 missing the week before.

U. S. troops from the 3rd Brigade, 25h Infantry Division, reported they suffered no casualties in one of the ground battles Wednesday eight miles southeast of coastal Quang Ngai City.

The U. S. Command said 70 Communist troops were killed in the 90-minute fight, but only one weapon was captured. The Army said helicopter gunships firing machine guns and rockets accounted for 51 of the dead.

South of Quang Ngai, in neighboring Binh Dinh Province, a company from the 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division ran into an estimated battalion of Communist troops, perhaps 300 to 400 men, in well fortified positions.

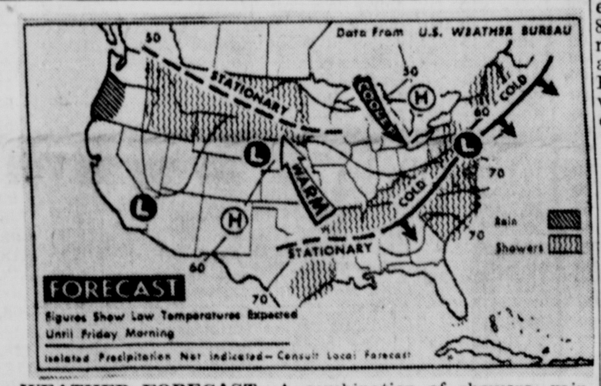

Two other companies were rushed in while jet bombers and artillery pounded the Communist positions. The U. S. infantrymen reported 73 Communist troops killed in the day-long battle, while American casualties were six dead, 22 wounded and four missing.

In the air war, U. S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs and F4 Phantoms concentrated on key railroad yards northwest and northeast of Hanoi through which military supplies are funneled from Red China to Hanoi, then sent through the southern panhandle and across or around the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam.

The aircraft carrier Intrepid, one of the last ships to pass through the Suez Canal before the Middle East war closed it, returned to the Vietnam war. Its planes attacked a rail yard 28 miles southwest of Thank Hoa.
